School Aid Bill Okayed

$1 Billion Program Is Cleared For House Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—The $1,600,000,000 federal school aid bill was approved Wednesday by the House Rules Committee, which had bottled it up for several months because of a brewing fight over public school segregation.

An 8-3 committee vote cleared the measure for action on the House floor, perhaps next week. Two Southern Democrats and one Mid-western Republican voted against the bill.

Southerners have opposed bringing it to the floor because Rep. Powell (D-NY) says he will propose an amendment that would forbid federal grants to schools which maintain segregation.

Introduction of such an amendment by Powell, a Negro, would be certain to touch off a major floor battle. And, if the amendment were approved, the bill's chances of passage in the Senate would be dimmed by the threat of a Southern filibuster.

Revolving Fund

The bill calls for a four-year program of federal grants for school construction at the rate of 400 million dollars a year. In addition, a revolving fund of not more than 750 million dollars would be set up to buy local school bonds if these couldn't be sold in the market at reasonable interest rates.

The measure acted on Wednesday is a Democratic substitute for Eisenhower's proposals. The President suggested federal grants at the rate of 250 million dollars a year for five years.

In a related development, a solid bloc of Republicans joined Southern Democrats in the House Education Committee Wednesday to kill a bill calling on the federal government to foot the bill for integrating public schools.

Critics said the measure, tabled by a 14-10 vote, would put a big, undefined financial burden on the Treasury.

Fall Out

House leaders are feeling that sentiment for a Powell anti-segregation amendment has fallen off in recent weeks. They were reported hopeful that a House majority would prefer to sidetrack the amendment in preference to having no aid bill at all.

Voting to clear the bill in the Rules Committee were Reps. Madden of Indiana, Delaney of New York, Trimble of Arkansas, Bolling of Missouri and O'Neill of Massachusetts. Democrats; and Brown of Ohio, Ellsworth of Oregon and Latham of New York, Republicans.

Against it were Smith of Virginia and Colmer of Mississippi, Democrats, and Allen of Illinois, Republican.

Lincolnite's Homicide Case Is Dismissed

Lincoln Star Special

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb. — A motor vehicle homicide charge against Lincoln resident Dale Coleman was dismissed "without prejudice" at a preliminary hearing in County Court here Wednesday.

Mrs. Betty Sharp, Otter County Attorney, said the charge was dismissed without prejudice so that if more evidence could be obtained in the future another charge could be filed.

Mrs. Sharp said she dismissed the charge after discovering that important evidence was not admissible under Nebraska rules.

She said that a blood test of Coleman had been taken by Dr. Harold Gately of Syracuse but that he testified Wednesday that it was taken while Coleman was unconscious, making it inadmissible as evidence in the case.

Mrs. Sharp said no authorities were called in on the fatal May 26 accident near Palmyra until four hours after it happened, and that she filed the charge after learning of the blood test, not knowing the circumstances under which the blood sample for the test was obtained.

Victim of the accident was Mrs. Robert Snyder, 43, a passenger in Coleman's car.

REMAINS OF AIR TRAGEDY

A crew member sorts out personal effects and clothing aboard a Coast Guard cutter at New York City after the ship's return from the ocean graveyard where a Venezuelan airliner carried 74 persons to their death. ## Sea Grappled For Plane That Took 74 To Death

... Only 6 Smashed Bodies Found

NEW YORK (AP)—Rescue vessels grappled in 120 feet of water Wednesday, seeking the shattered Venezuelan airliner that carried 74 persons to death in a flaming Atlantic Ocean crash.

It was the worst disaster any place in the world in the history of regularly scheduled commercial aviation.

The big plane exploded while dumping its gasoline as it returned to New York, with one engine dead.

Hours later, only six badly smashed bodies had been recovered and brought to New York by a Coast Guard vessel. They were covered with drab, gray military blankets.

But there was no urgency in the salvage task.

From the instant the plane hit water within sight of the lights of New York, it was apparent that everyone aboard had perished in one flaming moment of impact with the sea.

At sundown, salvage operations were suspended until dawn and all but one of a dozen surface ships withdrew from the scene.

Passengers aloft in another airliner within easy sight of the tragedy prayed for the doomed men, women and children as the Venezuelan craft went down ablaze like a shooting star.

Twenty victims were Americans—including a mother, father and their son and daughter. Others aboard included 24 Venezuelan schoolchildren returning to their homeland for summer vacations.

"Found no survivors—except to find none" was the tersely shocking message from the first surface ship on the scene, a Navy transport.

The big plane was only 10 minutes from Idlewild airport and safety when it exploded and slanted down from 9,000 feet at nearly a mile a minute.

Ball of Flame
It leveled off for an instant, then by now one huge ball of flame—it crashed into a calm sea 32 miles off the coast of Asbury Park, N.J. Until that last instant, the big ship, bound originally for Caracas, Venezuela, had been heading its way back to Idlewild with one engine giving it trouble.

The pilot, Capt. Luis F. Plata, was calm as he talked by radio about his engine trouble. It seemed like no more than a routine emergency. Giant airliners often turn back to safety with one or more of their engines out.

Back at Idlewild, chiefs were preparing special meals for the passengers aboard the Super Constellation.

Neuberger Says Shooting Of Goats Report Shocking

WASHINGTON (U)—Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore.) asked the Defense Department Wednesday about reports that live goats were shot with rifles to provide casualties for medical training at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

If the report is true, Neuberger declared in a letter to Secretary Wilson, those responsible for approving the practice should be disciplined.

Saying the idea was "shocking," Neuberger referred to a story published June 16 in the Portland (Ore.) Oregonian.

The story reported an interview with Capt. Carolyn Taylor about being the only woman in a large class that went through medical training at Ft. Sam Houston.

The story said that "in order to give the doctors battlefield experience, the Army shot goats with high-powered rifles."

HAGERTY: NOBODY TALKING POLITICS...

PRESIDENT SILENT

Big Question Unanswered

... Will He Seek Second Term?

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's press secretary said Wednesday the chief executive, in talks with key White House aids, still is keeping absolutely mum about whether he still intends to seek a second term.

James C. Hagerty told newsmen "nobody has talked politics with the President," since he underwent major abdominal surgery at Walter Reed Army Hospital, June 9.

Medical bulletins meanwhile continued to report that Eisenhower is making "very satisfactory" progress.

The bulletin issued at 5:15 p.m. said:

"Surgical residents who have been on duty in the President's room on six-hour round the clock shifts were relieved of that duty today."

Special Nurses Remain
"The special nurses and clinical technicians, of course, will remain on duty 24 hours a day."

Hagerty said the six Army surgeons are being relieved "because the President's condition is such that the medical authorities here at the hospital feel that they can be relieved."

Hagerty added the President had his dinner sitting up Wednesday night.

During the day, the President:

1. Conferred for 10 minutes in a hospital room with French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau. Pineau told reporters afterward that the President sent for him to discuss "the Algerian problem"—the revolt of Algerians against French rule.

2. Put in another 45-minute work session at the hospital. The chief executive signed nine bills into law.

As for the political situation, there has been some speculation that Eisenhower might disclose his second-term plans when a Republican National Committee group meets here Friday to arrange for the party's presidential nomination.

But Hagerty cut the odds on any such disclosure by saying in reply to an inquiry that Eisenhower has no plans to send the group a message which would answer the big question.

32 Billion Road Bill Readied

... Conferees Agree

WASHINGTON (U)—A $32,900,000,000 compromise roadbuilding bill carrying the biggest non-defense spending program in history was virtually put into final form Wednesday.

Senate-House conferees, working morning and afternoon in their fourth day of sessions on the measure, announced they had cleaned up all but a few minor details.

They will meet again Thursday to finish work on construction features of the bill. An hour later, another set of conferees will convene to work out the tax provisions to finance the vast construction program.

By far the biggest share of the money, $27,500,000,000, is allotted by the bill to the proposed 40,000-mile interstate system. This blue ribbon network of superhighways connecting all parts of the nation would be built over a 13-year period.

Increases in funds for the other three federal aid systems—primary farm-to-market and urban—would also be provided. They would benefit from a total of $5,100,000,000 in federal-state outlays during the next three years.

Compromise

The last major dispute involving the construction section of the measure was settled Wednesday with a compromise. This was over a Senate decision to add 2,500 miles to the 40,000-mile interstate system. The House had decided against any additional mileage.

The compromise would permit the Bureau of Public Roads to allocate an additional 1,000 miles to the interstate, but would bar a state from receiving any extra federal funds by reason of an additional mileage allocation.

Colorado has been especially interested in this item. Gov. Edwin C. Johnson came to Washington to attempt to persuade the lawmakers to approve the added 2,500 miles. He wants to include in the interstate a 500-mile route from Denver to Salt Lake.

The fund in the compromise bill is less than that in either the House or Senate versions.

That's because the House projected the three federal aid systems other than the interstate for 13 years, the Senate for five years and the conferees for only three. However, these programs doubtless will be continued beyond the three-year period by succeeding congresses.

Steelmen Request 'Big Three' Firms To Resume Talks

NEW YORK (INS)—The United Steelworkers Wednesday asked the "big three" steel companies to resume joint bargaining conferences that have been in recess since Sunday.

The move was the latest step in action aimed at averting a nationwide steel strike next week. Negotiators for the United Steelworkers of America and 12 of the leading producers held separate talks Wednesday.

The "big three"—U.S. Steel, Republic and Bethlehem did not respond immediately to the union's request for resumed joint conferences but they are expected to agree to the new talks.

Wedding Party Rides In Coach

Miss Roberta Neben of Lexington and Carl Schneiderer of Brewster and their attendants set out for their wedding in a horse-drawn stage coach. ## Old Fashioned Wedding Held At Lexington

Lincoln Star Special

LEXINGTON, Neb. — The current revival of the "good old days" was recently extended to an old-fashioned wedding.

Miss Roberta Neben was married to Carl Schneiderer of Brewster at First Lutheran Church at Buffalo after they and their attendants drove to the church in a horse-drawn stage coach.

Half a mile from the bride's home, five masked riders staged a "hold-up," an unscheduled part of the affair, and forced the couple to walk the rest of the way in their wedding attire.

The bride was wearing a floor length gown of Chantilly lace over white satin. The groom and his attendants had swallow-tail suits and the bride's attendants wore poke bonnets with blue gowns adding to the old-fashioned effect.

Many of the guests also came in old-fashioned attire. Mrs. M. F. Gierhan of Lexington was awarded the prize for the best costume. Her daughter, Mrs. Roger Breckenkamp, of Long Beach, Calif., received a prize for traveling the farthest distance.

Nebraskan Elected

George B. Hastings, an attorney from Grant, Neb., was elected moderator of the General Council of the Congregational Christian Churches at the Council biennial meeting in Omaha Wednesday. Hastings is a past president of the Nebraska Bar Association. He succeeds the Rev. Dr. Albert B. Coe, of Boston, as moderator.

School Aid Bill Okayed

$1 Billion Program Is Cleared For House Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—The $1,600,000,000 federal school aid bill was approved Wednesday by the House Rules Committee, which had bottled it up for several months because of a brewing fight over public school segregation.

An 8-3 committee vote cleared the measure for action on the House floor, perhaps next week. Two Southern Democrats and one Mid-western Republican voted against the bill.

Southerners have opposed bringing it to the floor because Rep. Powell (D-N.Y.) says he will propose an amendment that would forbid federal grants to schools which maintain segregation.

Introduction of such an amendment by Powell, a Negro, would be certain to touch off a major floor battle. And, if the amendment were approved, the bill's chances of passage in the Senate would be dimmed by the threat of a Southern filibuster.

Revolving Fund

The bill calls for a four-year program of federal grants for school construction at the rate of 400 million dollars a year. In addition, a revolving fund of not more than 750 million dollars would be set up to buy local school bonds if these couldn't be sold in the market at reasonable interest rates.

The measure acted on Wednesday is a Democratic substitute for Eisenhower's proposals. The President suggested federal grants at the rate of 250 million dollars a year for five years.

In a related development, a solid bloc of Republicans joined Southern Democrats in the House Education Committee Wednesday to kill a bill calling on the federal government to foot the bill for integrating public schools.

Critics said the measure, tabled by a 14-10 vote, would put a big, undefined financial burden on the Treasury.

Fall Off

House leaders have been represented as feeling that sentiment for Powell's antisegregation amendment has fallen off in recent weeks. They were reported hopeful that a House majority would prefer to sidetrack the amendment in preference to having no aid bill at all.

Voting to clear the bill in the Rules Committee were Reps. Madden of Indiana, Delaney of New York, Trimble of Arkansas, Bolling of Missouri and O'Neill of Massachusetts, Democrats; and Brown of Ohio, Ellsworth of Oregon and Latham of New York, Republicans.

Against it were Smith of Virginia and Colmer of Mississippi, Democrats, and Allen of Illinois, Republican.

Lincolnite's Homicide Case Is Dismissed

Lincoln Star Special

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb. — A motor vehicle homicide charge against Lincoln resident Dale Coleman was dismissed "without prejudice" at a preliminary hearing in County Court here Wednesday.

Mrs. Betty Sharp, Otoe County Attorney, said the charge was dismissed without prejudice so that if more evidence could be obtained in the future another charge could be filed.

Mrs. Sharp said she dismissed the charge after discovering that important evidence was not admissible under Nebraska rules. She said that a blood test of Coleman had been taken by Dr. Harold Gately of Syracuse but that he testified Wednesday that it was taken while Coleman was unconscious, making it inadmissible as evidence in the case.

Mrs. Sharp said no authorities were called in on the fatal May 26 accident near Palmyra until four hours after it happened, and that she filed the charge after learning of the blood test, not knowing the circumstances under which the blood sample for the test was obtained.

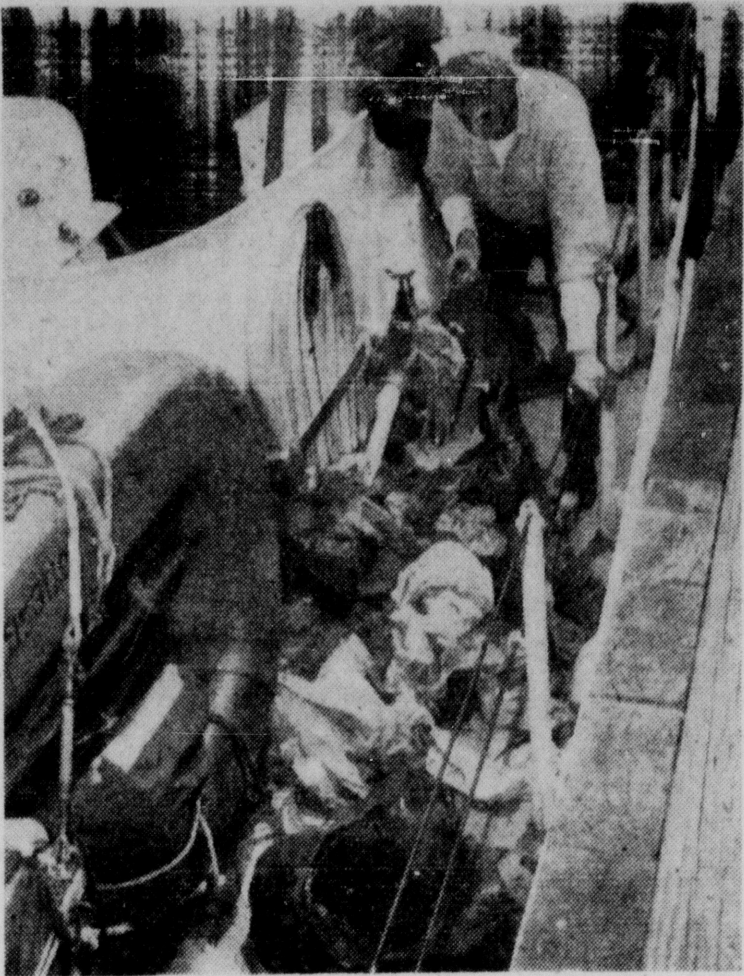

Victim of the accident was Mrs. Robert Snyder, 43, a passenger in Coleman's car.

REMAINS OF AIR TRAGEDY

A crew member sorts out personal effects and clothing aboard a Coast Guard cutter at New York City after the ship's return from the ocean graveyard where a Venetian airliner carried 74 persons to their death. The wreckage was found floating on an oil slick which marked the crash scene of the New Jersey coast. (AP Wirephoto).

Sea Grappled For Plane That Took 74 To Death

... Only 6 Smashed Bodies Found

NEW YORK (AP)—Rescue vessels grappled in 120 feet of water Wednesday, seeking the shattered Venetian airliner that carried 74 persons to death in a flaming Atlantic Ocean crash.

It was the worst disaster any place in the world in the history of regularly scheduled commercial aviation.

The big plane exploded while dumping its gasoline as it returned to New York, with one engine dead.

Hours later, only six badly smashed bodies had been recovered and brought to New York by a Coast Guard vessel. They were covered with drab, gray military blankets.

But there was no urgency in the salvage task.

From the instant the plane hit water within sight of the lights of New York, it was apparent that everyone aboard had perished in one flaming moment of impact with the sea.

At sundown, salvage operations were suspended until dawn and all but one of a dozen surface ships withdrew from the scene.

Prayed

Passengers aloft in another airliner within easy sight of the tragedy prayed for the doomed men, women and children as the Venetian craft went down ablaze like a shooting star.

Twenty victims were Americans—including a mother, father and their son and daughter. Others aboard included 24 Venetian schoolchildren returning to their homeland for summer vacations.

"Found no survivors—expect to find none" was the tersely shocking message from the first surface ship on the scene, a Navy transport.

The big plane was only 10 minutes from Idlewild airport and safely when it exploded and slanted down from 9,000 feet at nearly a mile a minute.

Ball of Flame

It leveled off for an instant, then—by one of those huge balls of flame—it crashed into a calm sea 32 miles off the coast of Asbury Park, N.J.

Until that last instant, the big ship, bound originally for Caracas, Venezuela, had been beating its way back to Idlewild with one engine going like trouble.

The pilot, Capt. Luis F. Plata, was calm as he talked by radio about his engine trouble. It seemed like no more than a routine emergency. Giant airliners often turn back to safety with one or more of their engines out.

Back at Idlewild, chefs were preparing special meals for the passengers aboard the Super Constellation.

Neuberger Says Shooting Of Goats Report Shocking

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) asked the Defense Department Wednesday about reports that live goats were shot with rifles to provide casualties for medical training at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

If the report is true, Neuberger declared in a letter to Secretary Wilson, those responsible for approving the practice should be disciplined.

Saying the idea was "shocking," Neuberger referred to a story published June 16 in the Portland (Ore.) Oregonian.

The story reported an interview with Capt. Carolyn Taylor about being the only woman in a large class that went through medical training at Ft. Sam Houston.

The story said that "in order to give the doctors battlefield experience, the Army shot goats with high-powered rifles."

HAGERTY: NOBODY TALKING POLITICS---

PRESIDENT SILENT

Big Question Unanswered

... Will He Seek Second Term?

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's press secretary said Wednesday the chief executive, in talks with key White House aids, still is keeping absolutely mum about whether he still intends to seek a second term.

James C. Hagerty told newsmen "nobody has talked politics with the President," since he underwent major abdominal surgery at Walter Reed Army Hospital, June 9.

Medical bulletins meanwhile continued to report that Eisenhower is making "very satisfactory" progress.

The bulletin issued at 5:15 p.m. said:

"Surgical residents who have been on duty in the President's room on six-hour round the clock shifts were relieved of that duty today."

Special Nurses Remain

"The special nurses and clinical technicians, of course, will remain on duty 24 hours a day."

Hagerty said the six Army surgeons are being relieved "because the President's condition is such that the medical authorities here at the hospital feel that they can be relieved."

Hagerty added the President had his dinner sitting up Wednesday night.

During the day, the President: 1. Conferred for 10 minutes in a hospital room with French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau. Pineau told reporters afterward that the President sent for him to discuss "the Algerian problem"—the revolt of Algerians against French rule.

Signs Nine Bills

2. Put in another 45-minute work session at the hospital. The chief executive signed nine bills into law.

As for the political situation, there has been some speculation that Eisenhower might disclose his second-term plans when a Republican National Committee group meets here Friday to arrange for the party's presidential nominating convention opening in San Francisco Aug. 20.

But Hagerty cut the odds on any such disclosure by saying in reply to an inquiry that Eisenhower has no plans to send the group a message which would answer the big question.

32 Billion Road Bill Readied

... Conferees Agree

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $32,000,000,000 compromise roadbuilding bill carrying the biggest non-defense spending program in history was virtually put into final form Wednesday.

Senate-House conferees, working morning and afternoon in their fourth day of sessions on the measure, announced they had cleaned up all but a few minor details.

They will meet again Thursday to finish work on construction features of the bill. An hour later, another set of conferees will convene to work out the tax provisions to finance the vast construction program.

By far the biggest share of the money, $27,500,000,000, is allotted by the bill to the proposed 40,000-mile interstate system. This blue ribbon network of superhighways connecting all parts of the nation would be built over a 13-year period.

Increases in funds for the other three federal aid systems—primary farm-to-market and urban—would also be provided. They would benefit from a total of $5,100,000,000 in federal-state outlays during the next three years.

Compromise

The last major dispute involving the construction section of the measure was settled Wednesday with a compromise. This was over a Senate decision to add 2,500 miles to the 40,000-mile interstate system. The House had decided against any additional mileage.

The compromise would permit the Bureau of Public Roads to allocate an additional 1,000 miles to the interstate, but would bar a state from receiving any extra federal funds by reason of an additional mileage allocation.

Colorado has been especially interested in this item. George Edwin C. Johnson came to Washington to attempt to persuade the lawmakers to approve the added 2,500 miles. He wants to include in the interstate a 500-mile route from Denver to Salt Lake.

The fund in the compromise bill is less than that in either the House or Senate versions.

That's because the House projected the three federal aid systems other than the interstate for 13 years, the Senate for five years and the conferees for only three. However, these programs doubtless will be continued beyond the three-year period by succeeding congresses.

Steelmen Request 'Big Three' Firms To Resume Talks

NEW YORK (INS)—The United Steelworkers Wednesday asked the "big three" steel companies to resume joint bargaining conferences that have been in recess since Sunday.

The move was the latest step in action aimed at averting a nationwide steel strike next week. Negotiators for the United Steelworkers of America and 12 of the leading producers held separate talks Wednesday.

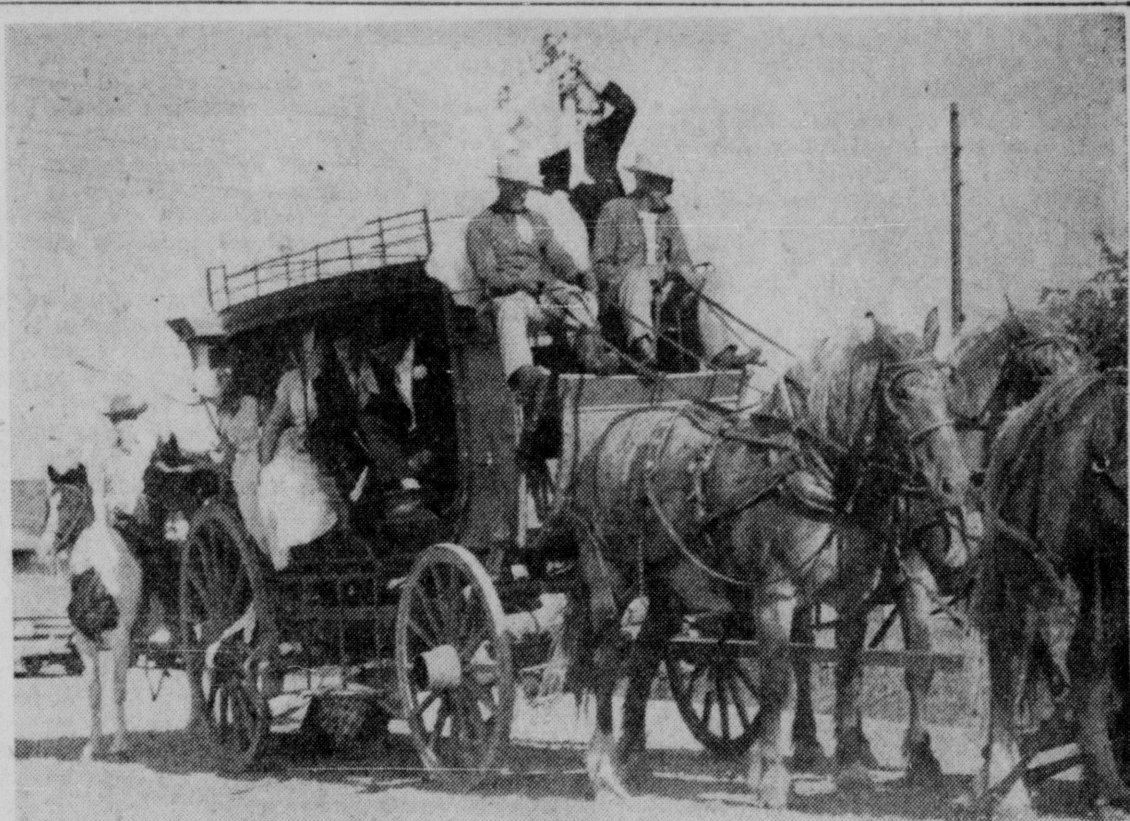

The "big three"—U.S. Steel, Republic and Bethlehem did not respond immediately to the union's request for resumed joint conferences but they are expected to agree to the new talks.

Old Fashioned Wedding Held At Lexington

Lincoln Star Special

LEXINGTON, Neb. — The current revival of the "good old days" was recently extended to an old-fashioned wedding.

Miss Roberta Neben was married to Carl Schneider of Brewster at First Lutheran Church at Buffalo after they and their attendants drove to the church in a horse-drawn stage coach.

A half a mile from the bride's home, five masked riders staged a "hold-up," an unscheduled part of the affair, and forced the couple to walk the rest of the way in their wedding attire.

The bride was wearing a floor length gown of Chantilly lace over white satin. The groom and his attendants had swallow-tail suits and the bride's attendants wore poke bonnets with blue bows adding to the old-fashioned effect.

Many of the guests also came in old-fashioned attire. Mrs. M. F. Gierhan of Lexington was awarded the prize for the best costume. Her daughter, Mrs. Roger Bredekamp of Long Beach, Calif., received a prize for traveling the farthest distance.

Nebraskan Elected

George B. Hastings, an attorney from Grant, Neb., was elected moderator of the General Council of the Congregational Christian Churches at the Council biennial meeting in Omaha Wednesday. Hastings is a past president of the Nebraska Bar Association. He succeeds the Rev. Dr. Albert B. Coe, of Boston, as moderator.

Church Delegates Argue On Merger

Sharp Exchanges Mark Opening Of Congregational Council Meet

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

OMAHA (AP)—Amid sharp exchanges and pleas for restraint, Congregational Christians convened Wednesday to decide the fate of a proposed church merger that has far reaching implications in American Protestantism.

More than 3,000 church representatives—1,600 of them voting delegates—crowded Omaha's city auditorium for the opening of a General Council meeting, pivotal in the denomination's long history.

Standing on the stage before a large cross suspended above flickering candles, Dr. Albert Buckner Coe of Boston, the church's presiding moderator, told the assembly:

"We have the ability to change without losing our faith, our freedom and our fellowship."

His address topped an opening day that crackled with high feelings about the church's projected union with the Evangelical and Reformed Church—a union that would mark the first crossing of "family lines" in American Protestantism.

Merger Denounced

After a session in which some delegates side-stepped the scheduled agenda to denounce the proposed merger, the Rev. Dr. Arthur H. Bradford of Jaffrey, N. H., made a stirring appeal that the matter be approached in reverence.

"If this be our way of procedure, we shall at no moment cease to be a council and become a crowd," he said.

He traced steps leading toward the merger over a 14 year period, recalled that the church time and again has pledged itself to Christian unity and said:

"The future character of the process and its destiny are in your hands."

"Whatever we may think of the present proposal for action at this time we must recognize it is an attempt to give practical expression to ideals cherished for generations."

Hastings Elected

George B. Hastings, of Grant, Neb., a layman and leading Nebraska attorney, was unanimously elected moderator of the council, the church's highest elective office to succeed Dr. Coe at the end of the present meeting.

A one-time county prosecutor, state senator and head of the Nebraska Bar Association, he said he would "endeavor to give articulate expression to the work, function and spirit of the church."

"I would plead," he said, "for unity of spirit, unity of purpose and unity of organization."

President Eisenhower sent his greetings to the meeting and his "best wishes for your success and your continuing endeavor to foster Christian citizenship and strengthen friendship between Americans and peoples in lands abroad."

Not an Agenda

In a session in which the subject wasn't even on the agenda, opponents jumped on the merger plan, assailing it as a threat to the traditional autonomy of individual Congregational Christian churches.

Charles Wesley Burton, of Chicago, described the proposed new church—which would be called "the United Church of Christ"—as embracing totalitarian features similar "to the communist state."

He said it would mean combining with a body—the Evangelical and Reformed Church—that practices "totalitarianism in religion."

Dr. Douglas Horton, dean of Harvard Divinity School, gave a crisp, one-sentence reply: "There is no possible connection between communism and the United Church of Christ."

The merger subject kept bobbing up through a discussion that was scheduled to be devoted to proposed resolutions on freedom, including a denunciation of communism and totalitarianism, and on racial integration.

Mrs. John D. Hendricks, of Bowling Green, Ohio, said that it was contradictory to condemn autocratic controls and at the same time propose a merger that would in which Congregational "autonomy is going to be called sin."

"Double Talk"

"I wonder how we can make double talk like that," she demanded.

Again, when the discussion got around to steps for improving racial policies, the merger topic spilled over once more.

Benjamin M. Powers, a Kansas City lawyer, declared that "while we're talking about minorities, we ought to talk about the minority opposed to this merger," and the way they've been treated.

"They've been brushed aside by the controllers," he said. "The controllers say pay no attention to them—they're just a minority. Steamroller them."

Votes by previous general councils and by individual churches have indicated strong support for the merger.

But with the present week-long meeting due to pass final judgment, opponents have been rallying for last-ditch resistance. About a dozen individual churches have declared they will quit the denomination if the merger goes through.

The merger would bring together Protestant bodies of diverse origins, and traditions. Previous church mergers in this country have been between related church families.

Congregational Christian churches developed from the Church of England, and the early American Pilgrims and Puritans, with a strong emphasis on the independence of each congregation.

The Evangelical and Reformed Church grew out of German and Swiss Protestantism, and sprang up in America in size during the immigration of the 18th century, with major settlements centering in Pennsylvania.

It has a slightly more centralized form of government, a modified form of Presbyterianism.

Some Red Troops Pulled Out E. Germany

Propaganda Show Staged By Russians

... Aimed At West

BRANDENBURG, East Germany (AP) — The Russians began their advertised withdrawal of 33,500 Soviet servicemen from German soil Wednesday with a propaganda show aimed at the West.

"We challenge the Western powers to follow the example of the Soviet union and disarm," was the theme of Communist speeches and banners at a ceremony marking the departure of an air division from Brandenburg.

About 125,000 persons, including factory workers, school children, farmers and housewives, marched or rode in truck convoys to the airfield to witness the farewell.

The Reds injected a bit of mystery in an air show that followed the speeches.

After 28 MIG's flew by in formation, an unidentified Russian jet buzzed the reviewing stand in a whooshing dip that seemed to be at supersonic speed. Russian officers only smiled when correspondents asked them what type plane it was.

Ground troops next. Ground troops are scheduled to begin departing Thursday from Soviet army bases at Magdeburg and Weimar.

Neither Russian nor East German speakers at the Brandenburg rally said how many airmen were leaving.

But exactly 87 IL10 Stormovik propeller-driven fighter-bombers took off from the Brandenburg field and winged eastward.

A Western Allied observer commented the IL10s were of World War II vintage, obsolete and "in all probability are headed for the junk pile."

Burlington Asks To Discontinue Unadilla Agency

The Burlington Railroad Wednesday asked the State Railway Commission for permission to discontinue its agency service at Unadilla and substitute a part-time custodian or caretaker.

It was the second such request in 24 hours. The railroad Tuesday asked authority to discontinue its agency at Winslow.

Unadilla, a town of 230 persons, is on the Burlington's Lincoln-to-Nebraska City line. The town is seven miles east of Palmyra and five miles west of Syracuse, at both of which places agency service is provided.

The Unadilla agency is "not necessary or justified or required by the public convenience," the railroad contended.

A custodian or caretaker, working 1 1/2 hours a day five days per week, could be provided at a cost of $500 whereas out-of-pocket costs of maintaining the agency now approximate $4,400, the railroad stated.

"Feeling Fit as a Fiddle" Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, column "Medical Round-up" appearing in the "Sunday Journal and Star," gives sound advice on how to keep healthy.

RALPH BAKER

Baker To Get Hanna's Post On Hwy. Bd.

Ralph Baker of Valentine has been appointed to succeed Don Hanna Jr. of Brownlee, who has submitted his resignation from the State Highway Commission, Gov. Victor Anderson announced Wednesday.

The change takes effect July 1. Baker, 60, has been a rancher since 1921, is a former Cherry County Commissioner, president of the Nebraska County Officials Assn. and past president of the Sandhills Cattleman's Assn.

In his letter of resignation, Hanna said he finds it necessary to devote undivided attention to the management of his ranch and business and will be unable to give the commission assignment the time it deserves.

Served Well Gov. Anderson said Hanna had "served the state well" and been a conscientious and co-operative commission member.

Hanna was appointed Feb. 23, 1954, to fill the vacancy created by the death of his father. The term expires Sept. 14, 1959, and Baker will serve until then.

Baker attended public school in Gordon, is a World War I veteran, married, and the father of two children. He is a Republican.

Norfolk Student Gets Fellowship

A University of Nebraska student from Norfolk has accepted a National Science Foundation Fellowship. He is Eugene Hupp, who is presently studying physiology and dairy cattle at the College of Agriculture.

After completing his master's degree this fall, Hupp plans to enroll in Michigan State University, East Lansing, for work on his doctor's degree.

The foundation makes awards available to students who have demonstrated ability and special aptitude for advanced training in the sciences.

The number of scholarships of this nature are limited and it is considered an honor to receive one, said Dr. Philip L. Kelly, chairman of the dairy department at the college.

Endurance Case Is Appealed While 'Count' Remains Aloft

"Count Gerald Davis" still defied the law of gravity in a pole-sitting stunt Wednesday while his sponsor, auto dealer Newt Copple, appealed from the gravity of the law.

Copple posted a $250 appeal bond in Lancaster County Court after being found guilty Tuesday of maintaining and advertising a physical and mental endurance performance and being fined $100, the minimum penalty.

At last report Wednesday, the "Count" was still in his "chicken-coop" like house atop the pole at Copple Bros. Motors, 500 No. 48th. The house is equipped with radio and television and certain other conveniences.

Aloft for 33 days so far the "Count" has been billed as "trying for a world's new endurance record" and reportedly plans to stay up for 40 days.

However, Copple indicated in court that the performance is an "advertising stunt" and the "Count" can come down anytime he wishes.

However, County Judge Herbert Ronin ruled Tuesday that the stunt is a type of endurance performance.

Jet Airliner Plan Readied By Four American Firms

LOS ANGELES, (INS) — Plans for the production of a jet commercial airliner with a top cruising speed of 609 miles an hour were announced jointly Wednesday by four companies involved in the more than 200 million dollar undertaking.

The plane, to be built by Convair and known as the "Golden Arrow" because of a gold-colored exterior, will be powered by four CG-803 jet engines, marking General Electric's entry into the commercial aircraft engine field.

The announcement said 30 of the planes have been ordered by Hughes Tool Co., for service by its subsidiary Trans-World Airlines, and 10 by Delta Air Lines. The aircraft, on which delivery is scheduled to start in late 1959, will be produced at Convair's San Diego plant.

A one and a half ton late model truck of the Nebraska State Reformatory which was used in the escape of two inmates late Monday morning was found about three miles south of Friend by the State Highway Patrol.

The truck was unharmed and in good condition, Robert E. Nichols, superintendent of the Reformatory, said. The two men, both of whom trustees, were still missing late Wednesday evening.

formance "clearly" prohibited by law.

A defense attorney said he was not aware of any ultimatum from the county attorney's office that Copple get the "Count" off the pole or face new charges of maintaining an endurance performance Thursday.

Copple, himself, was reported by his office as being out of town and not available for comment. Copple had pleaded innocent to the endurance charge filed May 31 by Dep. Co. Atty. Dale Fahrbruch and defended the performance as being not one prohibited by law.

Senate OKs Merchant Atom Ship

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Wednesday passed a bill authorizing construction of an atomic-powered merchant ship.

The cost is estimated at 7 million dollars. The administration has been pushing for quick action on the bill, saying that other nations were making plans to get into the field and that the United States should, for prestige reasons, be first.

The legislation now goes to conference with the House, which has passed a similar bill last July. Sen. Anderson (D-NM), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, expressed fear in the debate that the bill might be a disguised attempt to revive President Eisenhower's atomic "peace ship" proposal.

Never Gave Up This was turned down by one vote in the Senate last year. But Anderson said the administration, particularly Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission, never had given up hope of getting it through.

But Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash), floor manager of the bill, and Sens. Bricker (R-Ohio) and Hickel (R-Ohio), two administration spokesmen on atomic matters, assured Anderson that the bill covered only a merchant ship designed as a prototype for economically feasible vessels which could serve on shipping routes.

Anderson finally said he was satisfied.

'Encourage Russ Ties'

... Pineau Urge

WASHINGTON (AP)—French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said Wednesday Russia has started to raise its Iron Curtain and that the West must encourage this by big-scale cultural-economic contacts with Communist countries.

He urged that the United States lead the Western world in such an "experiment" because Russia's current leaders now are "ready to make a certain number of unavoidable sacrifices."

France's 51-year-old foreign policy chief spoke out bluntly before reporters at a National Press Club luncheon after ending three days of intensive diplomatic talks with Secretary of State Dulles.

Long Pine Liquor License Lifted For Two Weeks

The State Liquor Control Commission reported Wednesday it has ordered a 14-day suspension of the Class C liquor license of Orval L. Clark, Long Pine, on a finding that the licensee was intoxicated in and about his licensed premises last March 27. The two-week suspension begins at the regular closing hour July 5.

In another action, the commission approved package liquor licenses for Fred A. Gordon and George Tubbs, both of South Sioux City.

Protests had been filed after the City Council of South Sioux City had recommended that the licenses be issued.

Issuance of the licenses had been recommended by the City Council of South Sioux City and the commission noted that no question was raised either before the city council or the commission concerning the qualifications of the applicants.

The commission ruled that protests against the issuance of the licenses should be dismissed.

Some Red Troops Pulled Out E. Germany

Propaganda Show Staged By Russians ... Aimed At West

BRANDENBURG, East Germany (AP) — The Russians began their advertised withdrawal of 33,500 Soviet servicemen from German soil Wednesday with a propaganda show aimed at the West.

"We challenge the Western powers to follow the example of the Soviet union and disarm," was the theme of Communist speeches and banners at a ceremony marking the departure of an air division from Brandenburg.

About 125,000 persons, including factory workers, school children, farmers and housewives, marched or rode in truck convoys to the airfield to witness the farewell.

The Reds injected a bit of mystery in an air show that followed the speeches.

After 28 MIG's flew by in formation, an unidentified Russian jet buzzed the reviewing stand in a whooshing dip that seemed to be at supersonic speed. Russian officers only smiled when correspondents asked them what type plane it was.

Ground Troops Next

Ground troops are scheduled to begin departing Thursday from Soviet army bases at Magdeburg and Weimar.

Neither Russian nor East German speakers at the Brandenburg rally said how many airmen were leaving.

But exactly 87 IL10 Stormovik propeller-driven fighter - bombers took off from the Brandenburg field and winged eastward.

A Western Allied observer commented the IL10s were of World War II vintage, obsolete and "in all probability are headed for the junk pile."

Burlington Asks To Discontinue Unadilla Agency

The Burlington Railroad Wednesday asked the State Railway Commission for permission to discontinue its agency service at Unadilla and substitute a part-time custodian or caretaker.

It was the second such request in 24 hours. The railroad Tuesday asked authority to discontinue its agency at Winslow.

Unadilla, a town of 230 persons, is on the Burlington's Lincoln-to-Nebraska City line. The town is seven miles east of Palmyra and five miles west of Syracuse, at both of which places agency service is provided.

The Unadilla agency is "not necessary or justified or required by the public convenience," the railroad contended.

A custodian or caretaker, working 1½ hours a day five days per week, could be provided at a cost of $500 whereas out-of-pocket costs of maintaining the agency now approximate $4,400, the railroad stated.

Baker To Get Hanna's Post On Hwy. Bd.

Ralph Baker of Valentine has been appointed to succeed Don Hanna Jr. of Brownlee, who has submitted his resignation from the State Highway Commission. Gov. Victor Anderson announced Wednesday.

The change takes effect July 1. Baker, 60, has been a rancher since 1921, is a former Cherry County Commissioner, president of the Nebraska County Officials Assn. and past president of the Sandhills Cattlemen's Assn.

In his letter of resignation, Hanna said he finds it necessary to devote undivided attention to the management of his ranch and business and will be unable to give the commission assignment the time it deserves.

Served Well

Gov. Anderson said Hanna had "served the state well" and been a conscientious and co-operative commission member.

Hanna was appointed Feb. 23, 1954, to fill the vacancy created by the death of his father. The term expires Sept. 14, 1959, and Baker will serve until then.

Baker attended public school in Gordon, is a World War I veteran, married and the father of two children. He is a Republican.

Norfolk Student Gets Fellowship

A University of Nebraska student from Norfolk has accepted a National Science Foundation Fellowship. He is Eugene Hupp, who is presently studying physiology and dairy cattle at the College of Agriculture.

After completing his master's degree this fall, Hupp plans to enroll in Michigan State University, East Lansing, for work on his doctor's degree.

The foundation makes awards available to students who have demonstrated ability and special aptitude for advanced training in the sciences.

The number of scholarships of this nature are limited and it is considered an honor to receive one, said Dr. Philip L. Kelly, chairman of the dairy department at the college.

Endurance Case Is Appealed While 'Count' Remains Aloft

"Count Gerald Davis" still defied the law of gravity in a pole-sitting stunt Wednesday while his sponsor, auto dealer Newt Copple, appealed from the gravity of the law.

Copple posted a $250 appeal bond in Lancaster County Court after being found guilty Tuesday of maintaining and advertising a physical and mental endurance performance and being fined $100, the minimum penalty.

At last report Wednesday, the "Count" was still in his "chicken-coop" like house atop the pole at Copple Bros. Motors, 500 No. 48th. The house is equipped with radio and television and certain other conveniences.

Aloft for 33 days so far the "Count" has been billed as "trying for a world's new endurance record" and reportedly plans to stay up for 40 days.

However, Copple indicated in court that the performance is an "advertising stunt" and the "Count" can come down anytime he wishes.

However, County Judge Herbert Ronin ruled Tuesday that the stunt is a type of endurance performance "clearly" prohibited by law.

2,000 Watch Irrigation Day Aurora Parade

AURORA, Neb. — More than 2,000 persons packed Aurora's downtown sidewalks Wednesday to watch a 30-minute "Irrigation Days" parade which included everything from prancing palomino horses to antique autos.

The 15-block long array of floats and displays was the highlight of the second annual two-day celebration, which is staged to acquaint farmers with the latest irrigation methods.

Dean Morgan of Aurora, chairman of the Irrigation Days parade competition, says Aurora is the "deep well irrigation center of the nation." He says there are more than 825 irrigation wells in Hamilton County ranging from 30 to nearly 200 feet in depth.

Baseball games and a carnival opened the festivities Tuesday and the parade, a free picnic at the city square, band concert, magic show and square dance were on Wednesday's program. Earl Wilkins, president of the Geneva State Bank, delivered an evening address on financing of irrigation installations and operations.

The Aurora Junior Chamber of Commerce and Chamber of Commerce jointly sponsored the affair. Merle Fairchild served as general chairman.

Winners in beard competition were: Glen Troyer and Sebastian Jankovitz, heaviest full beard; Floyd Carnes and Lynn Vetter, heaviest, best-trimmed beard; and C. H. Lindquist, best mustache and chin whiskers.

Stake Mishap By Street Crew Snaps Some Phone Lines

Long-distance telephone service to seven Nebraska towns and to Chicago was affected for several hours Wednesday after a cable at 14th and T was accidentally cut by a construction crew.

The construction crew, which was widening the street at that point, drove a stake into the ground, cutting the telephone cable.

Fifty long distance circuits were cut off, according to the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Service to Grand Island, Seward, Aurora, Omaha, Hastings, York, Geneva and Chicago was affected.

According to the company spokesman, service was not completely disrupted because in some cases there were other long distance wires to the towns in other cases calls were rerouted.

Although some newspaper press service lines were disrupted, the television sound and radio services carried by the system were not affected.

Most of the circuits were restored to service by 6 p.m. Wednesday.

State High Court Asked To Rule On 1879 Agreement

The Nebraska Supreme Court was asked Wednesday to reverse a Morrill District Court decision preventing Valdemar A. Nielsen, a county landowner, from taking water out of Pumpkin Seed Creek. Action in the suit was brought against Nielsen by the State Department of Roads and Irrigation.

Nielsen contended the state approved his appropriation of water from the creek in 1879 and that a cancellation in 1923 was invalid because affected parties were not properly notified.

The general finding for the irrigation department was made by the District Court.

An intervenor in the case, Bern R. Coulter, sided with the Irrigation Department as an attorney and owner of adjoining land in Morrill County.

Nielsen's attorneys Wednesday said the District Court failed to clarify the grounds for its decision and renewed the argument that the 1923 cancellation was invalid.

He will return to Lincoln in time for jury work.

Aurora Has Irrigation Days

Aurora's "Irrigation Days" brought both pleasant and not quite so pleasant experiences for those attending. Mrs. Bill L. Barnesberger admires the whiskers of "prospector" Sebastian

Jankovitz, who tied for first place in the beard competition (picture on the left). Twenty-month-old Craig Grotzky (at right) isn't nearly so enthusiastic about donkey rides. In fact, he is informing Bill Cassey that he doesn't like them one bit. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Grotzky of Grand Island. Cassey is also from Grand Island. (Star Staff Photos.)

2,000 Watch Irrigation Day Aurora Parade

AURORA, Neb. — More than 2,000 persons packed Aurora's downtown sidewalks Wednesday to watch a 30-minute "Irrigation Days" parade which included everything from prancing palomino horses to antique autos.

The 15-block long array of floats and displays was the highlight of the second annual two-day celebration, which is staged to acquaint farmers with the latest irrigation methods.

Dean Morgan of Aurora, chairman of the Irrigation Days beard competition, says Aurora is the "deep well irrigation center of the nation." He says there are more than 825 irrigation wells in Hamilton County ranging from 80 to nearly 200 feet in depth.

Baseball games and a carnival opened the festivities Tuesday and the parade, a free picnic at the city square, band concert, magic show and square dance were on Wednesday's program. Earl Wilkins, president of the Geneva State Bank, delivered an evening address on financing of irrigation installations and operations.

The Aurora Junior Chamber of Commerce and Chamber of Commerce jointly sponsored the affair. Merle Fairchild served as general chairman.

Winners in beard competition were: Glen Troyer and Sebastian Jankovitz, heaviest full beard; Floyd Carnes and Lynn Vetter, heaviest, best-trimmed beard; and C. H. Lindquist, best mustache and chin whiskers.

Stake Mishap By Street Crew Snaps Some Phone Lines

Long-distance telephone service to seven Nebraska towns and to Chicago was affected for several hours Wednesday after a cable at 14th and T was accidentally cut by a construction crew.

The construction crew, which was widening the street at that point, drove a stake into the ground, cutting the telephone cable.

Fifty long distance circuits were cut off, according to the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Company.

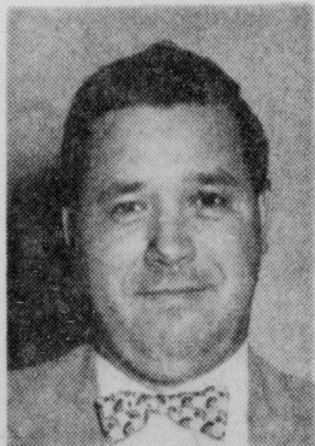

Service to Grand Island, Seward, Aurora, Omaha, Hastings, York, Geneva and Chicago was affected.

According to the company spokesman, service was not completely disrupted because in some cases there were other long distance wires to the towns, in other cases calls were rerouted.

Although some newspaper press service lines were disrupted, the television sound and radio services carried by the system were not affected.

Most of the circuits were restored to service by 6 p.m. Wednesday.

State High Court Asked To Rule On 1879 Agreement

The Nebraska Supreme Court was asked Wednesday to reverse a Morrill District Court decision preventing Valdemar A. Nielsen, a county landowner, from taking water out of Pumpkin Seed Creek. Action in the suit was brought against Nielsen by the State Department of Roads and Irrigation.

Nielsen contended the state approved his appropriation of water from the creek in 1879 and that a cancellation in 1923 was invalid because affected parties were not properly notified.

The general finding for the irrigation department was made by the District Court.

An intervenor in the case, Bern R. Coulter, sided with the Irrigation Department as an attorney and owner of adjoining land in Morrill County.

Nielsen's attorneys Wednesday said the District Court failed to clarify the grounds for its decision and renewed the argument that the 1923 cancellation was invalid.

U.S. District Court Lincoln Jury May Hear 15 Cases

The U.S. District Court will convene a petit jury July 9 in Lincoln.

Set for trial were two criminal and 13 civil cases, although it was not certain that any specific case will go to trial.

Civil cases are often settled out of court just before trial time and defendants in criminal cases have changed their decisions as to pleas and procedure.

Judge John W. Delehant leaves July 6, after a morning session in Omaha on criminal matters, by plane for Santa Fe, N. M., to attend a meeting of the committee on pre-trial procedure and practice.

He will return to Lincoln in time for jury work.

Courageous Little Lady

We feel called upon to sing the praises of a most extraordinary little woman, Miss Doris Fleeason, whose columns appear regularly on this page and who in recent months has been contributing some of the most remarkable material coming out of Washington.

Miss Fleeason in this issue writes of the findings of a handwriting expert after studying the President's signature since he was taken sick. "Shucks," we say to ourself, "there is nothing to it." But the study of handwriting which gave Ike such a favorable report in 1952 now since his illness first from a heart ailment and later a stomach disorder is so unfavorable. The point is that if any Washington columnist or commentator has undertaken to get at the facts, Miss Fleeason has been far ahead of the pack and has written dispassionately without fear or favor.

Her column today is well worth reading. Her columns in recent weeks have been searching, thoughtful and scholarly. This is to salute her for work well done. All thoughtful Americans, possibly bypassing politicians, will agree that one of the most important matters in front of the American people is the condition of the President's health. We need all of the facts in connection with it.

Crop Picture Brightens

Early wheat harvest information from Gage County hints that Nebraska may be spared a good measure of the disappointment experienced in the wheat growing states of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Nebraska does not have its hopes set on a bumper year and there are sections in the west where early crop damage has pinpointed real loss. But the southeast Nebraska cutting brought in a 60 pound test wheat indicating a 25 bushel to the acre yield. Moisture was testing at less than 12 per cent. Reports that the berries are shorter this year were offset by the observation that they were firm, hard and well filled.

States to the south where the harvest has ended or is ending the yields are reduced from 1955 and bear out national estimates of the poorest over-all crop in 11 years.

Early returns do not tell the full story. But Nebraska has justification for thoughts that it may be a 1956 exception. The memory of 1955 when a bumper wheat crop cushioned Nebraska from the disappointment of heavy corn loss through drought is still fresh, reminding also that Nebraska's diversification is its greatest defense. Agriculturally it is a hard state to down.

The early news from the wheat fields coupled with encouraging moisture is sufficient to give Nebraska confidence. Despite frequent concerns it is still in their plucking and doing all right.

Handling It Better

A research report by the University of Nebraska has noted a steady decline in state bank loans to operating Nebraska farmers. Viewing from a 1952 peak of $113 million the report described the descent as gradual to a point at the close of 1955, 12 per cent lower.

It reminded that the gradual decline had averted explosive detriment to the farm economy and had allowed time for readjustment.

Gradualness in the downward changes in agriculture, indeed, has been a factor for which the Middle West can give thanks. And lack of it on the part of the surplus-conscious Benson administration is one of the chief criticisms of the Agriculture Department's activities since the Eisenhower team took over. Nebraska farmers and bankers have done the better job. Perhaps it is because they are more realistically aware that drastic reforms are frequently more damaging than the original problem.

When balance has been restored to agriculture the past three years will be recalled as a period when urgent devices ranging all the way from several tinkers with flexible price supports to the soil bank plan failed to curb surpluses and largely spent themselves heightening the price-cost squeeze. The momentum of maximum production induced by a world war and a Korean effort is not something to be stopped by a Washington directive any more than a speeding train can be halted by stretching a rope across the track—a lesson Mr. Benson finds hard to learn.

But with sufficient examples now of the wrong way there should be no general support for the newest proposed solution—the squeezing out of some 3 million families working so-called small farms. That will not take any productive soil out cropping. Rather it will add three million families to the ranks of job seekers with significant effects on the employment balance. It will also tend to shrink populations of areas, and lessen political representation, where economic betterment would be better served by a growth in population.

Canada's Needs

Good relations between the United States and Canada is taken for granted by the average American. But frictions develop. Presently there are two.

Western Canada has exportable resources and needs economic development. Yet it has not satisfactory outlet to the Pacific because Alaska lies across the path. Canada is asking for a corridor across the Alaska Panhandle. Alaska is strongly in favor of it.

Canada owns the upper branches of the Columbia River—the United States the lower reaches. Canada wishes joint use of the river together with a meeting of minds reconciling river development.

Thus far the United States has given both requests the most casual treatment. The Columbia River proposal fails to make headway because it is in the laps of the International Joint Commission whose chairman, an American, is a foe of public power. The Alaska corridor was lightly discussed by President Eisenhower some months ago when he met with Canada's Prime Minister Laurent and the President of Mexico at White Sulphur Springs. Nothing has happened since.

It would seem that both subjects are matters for the State Department and are entitled to first rate attention. A good neighbor policy cannot thrive without constant concern for mutually beneficial arrangements.

More Milk

We are indebted to the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization for the latest global news on milk.

The world is drinking much more milk than it did prior to World War II and is now downing 233 million tons annually.

And, of the varieties of milk favored by this one and that one, cow's milk remains the general favorite—225.2 million tons. One would guess goat's milk as a strong second, but not so. A comparative unknown, the buffalo, holds that spot, 154 million tons. Goats supply but 7.7 million pounds. They have been given too much credit in literature. Sheep's milk amounts to 4.8 million tons.

This surging demand for milk would indicate an easing of market tensions for the producer, but it has had little effect on this country. Its dairy production has risen 17 per cent while Africa and Latin America have jumped production 40 per cent. There is still not enough to go around. Distribution to remote markets is too expensive to be practical under present methods.

Miss Fleeon in this issue writes of the findings of a handwriting expert after studying the President's signature since he was taken sick. "Shucks," we say to ourselves, "there is nothing to it." But the study of handwriting which gave Ike such a favorable report in 1952 now since his illness first from a heart ailment and later a stomach disorder is so unfavorable. The point is that if any Washington columnist or commentator has undertaken to get at the facts, Miss Fleeon has been far ahead of the pack and has written dispassionately without fear or favor.

Her column today is well worth reading. Her columns in recent weeks have been searching, thoughtful and scholarly. This is to salute her for work well done. All thoughtful Americans, possibly bypassing politicians, will agree that one of the most important matters in front of the American people is the condition of the President's health. We need all of the facts in connection with it.

Crop Picture Brightens

Early wheat harvest information from Gage County hints that Nebraska may be spared a good measure of the disappointment experienced in the wheat growing states of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Nebraska does not have its hopes set on a bumper year and there are sections in the west where early crop damage has pinpointed real loss. But the southeast Nebraska cutting brought in a 60 pound test wheat indicating a 25 bushel to the acre yield. Moisture was testing at less than 12 per cent. Reports that the berries are shorter this year were offset by the observation that they were firm, hard and well filled.

States to the south where the harvest has ended or is ending the yields are reduced from 1955 and bear out national estimates of the poorest over-all crop in 11 years.

Early returns do not tell the full story. But Nebraska has justification for thoughts that it may be a 1956 exception. The memory of 1955 when a bumper wheat crop cushioned Nebraska from the disappointment of heavy corn loss through drought is still fresh, reminding also that Nebraska's diversification is its greatest defense. Agriculturally it is a hard state to down.

The early news from the wheat fields coupled with encouraging moisture is sufficient to give Nebraska confidence. Despite frequent concerns it is still in their pitching and doing all right.

Handling It Better

A research report by the University of Nebraska has noted a steady decline in state bank loans to operating Nebraska farmers. Viewing from a 1952 peak of $113 million the report described the descent as gradual to a point at the close of 1955, 12 per cent lower.

It reminded that the gradual decline had averted explosive detriment to the farm economy and had allowed time for readjustment.

Gradualness in the downward changes in agriculture, indeed, has been a factor for which the Middle West can give thanks. And lack of it on the part of the surplus-conscious Benson administration is one of the chief criticisms of the Agriculture Department's activities since the Eisenhower team took over. Nebraska farmers and bankers have done the better job. Perhaps it is because they are more realistically aware that drastic reforms are frequently more damaging than the original problem.

When balance has been restored to agriculture the past three years will be recalled as a period when urgent devices ranging all the way from several tinkering with flexible price supports to the soil bank plan failed to curb surpluses and largely spent themselves heightening the price-cost squeeze. The momentum of maximum production induced by a world war and a Korean effort is not something to be stopped by a Washington directive any more than a speeding train can be halted by stretching a rope across the track—a lesson Mr. Benson finds hard to learn.

But with sufficient examples now of the wrong way there should be no general support for the newest proposed solution—the squeezing out of some 3 million families working so-called small farms. That will not take any productive soil out cropping. Rather it will add three million families to the ranks of job seekers with significant effects on the employment balance. It will also tend to shrink populations of areas, and lessen political representation, where economic betterment would be better served by a growth in population.

Canada's Needs

Good relations between the United States and Canada is taken for granted by the average American. But frictions develop. Presently there are two.

Western Canada has exportable resources and needs economic development. Yet it has no satisfactory outlet to the Pacific because Alaska lies across the path. Canada is asking for a corridor across the Alaska Panhandle. Alaska is strongly in favor of it.

Canada owns the upper branches of the Columbia River—the United States the lower reaches. Canada wishes joint use of the river together with a meeting of minds reconciling river development.

Thus far the United States has given both requests the most casual treatment. The Columbia River proposal fails to make headway because it is in the laps of the International Joint Commission whose chairman, an American, is a foe of public power. The Alaska corridor was lightly discussed by President Eisenhower some months ago when he met with Canada's Prime Minister Laurent and the President of Mexico at White Sulphur Springs. Nothing has happened since.

It would seem that both subjects are matters for the State Department and are entitled to first rate attention. A good neighbor policy cannot thrive without constant concern for mutually beneficial arrangements.

More Milk

We are indebted to the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization for the latest global news on milk.

The world is drinking much more milk than it did prior to World War II and is now downing 253 million tons annually.

And of the varieties of milk favored by this one and that one, cow's milk remains the general favorite—225.2 million tons. One would guess goats' milk as a strong second, but not so. A comparative unknown, the buffalo, holds that spot, 15½ million tons. Goats supply but 7.7 million pounds. They have been given too much credit in literature. Sheep's milk amounts to 4.8 million tons.

This surging demand for milk would indicate an easing of market tensions for the producer, but it has had little effect on this country. Its dairy production has risen 17 per cent while Africa and Latin America have jumped production 40 per cent. There is still not enough to go around. Distribution to remote markets is too expensive to be practical under present methods.

Ike's Handwriting Stirs Headshaking

WASHINGTON—Those doctors who are disagreeing about President Eisenhower's newest illness and future health prospects are not going to be allowed to have the field all to themselves.

The President's signature, written from his hospital bed June 12, shortly after his ileitis operation, has fallen under the eagle eye of Harry O. Teltcher, the handwriting expert. Teltcher's book, "Handwriting," published by the reputable G. P. Putnam's Sons, went into its fourth revised edition this year.

Teltcher realizes that an old fan of his, the Citizens for Eisenhower Committee, which quoted from his admiring analysis of Mr. Eisenhower's handwriting in the 1952 campaign, is not going to make him their pin-up man of 1956.

Nevertheless, here are his views, based on the presidential signature which White House Press Secretary Hagerty triumphantly flourished before reporters June 12. The signature was attached to an order allocating federal funds for civilian defense. It was reproduced by the newspapers the next day.

Teltcher speaking: "The President's signature is still rather undecipherable, as was one written in August, 1955, before his heart attack which showed he was wrestling with incipient fatigue and depression.

"There is a shrinkage of letters in the middle zone. It has many depressive features. The whole writing descends and dwindles in size while the last stroke is sharply downward. "These are characteristic features of the writing of people who are, consciously or unconsciously, depressed and uncertain about their future."

In a recent Coronet article, written in collaboration with Dr. W. Eliasberg, a psychiatrist, Teltcher related that "tell-tale changes" had appeared in the Eisenhower handwriting just before and after his heart seizure. He found:

"More pressure in writing and it has a pasty look. The strokes descend, the capitals are more indistinct, the writing seems disjointed."

His conclusion: "The President is still a weary and often tense man."

Adlai Stevenson, like Mr. Eisenhower in 1952, got excellent notices on his handwriting from Teltcher. Perhaps fortunately for Stevenson, the present Democratic front-runner has not signed his 1956 model any place where the expert can get at it.

In his book, Teltcher includes a section on the handwriting of prominent statesmen. The most provocative is perhaps his view of the highly tortuous signature of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. It is so dim a view the Secretary of State might well be tempted to go once more to the brink of war—with the handwriting experts.

Hint Retirement Of Ambassadors

WASHINGTON—You can look for two early changes in two top diplomatic posts, one in Washington, the other in London.

Winthrop Aldrich, U.S. ambassador to London and former head of the Chase National Bank, is expected to step down and be replaced by John Hay (Jock) Whitney, head of the Wall Street investment house bearing his name and active in the Citizens for Eisenhower committee.

Simultaneously, Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban in Washington is expected to retire and be replaced by the present minister of the Israeli embassy, Reuben Shiloah.

Eban's pending retirement is linked with a more aggressive Israeli foreign policy being adopted with the current shake-up in the Ben-Gurion cabinet and the retirement of moderate foreign minister Sharrett.

For some time Ambassador Aldrich has indicated his desire to retire from the American embassy in London, despite his popularity with the British government. Aldrich has been one of the biggest money raisers for the Republican party. Whitney, who has been tabbed to take his place, married the ex-wife of Congressman Jimmy Roosevelt, Betsy Cushing, served under President Roosevelt in the Rockefeller Committee on Cultural Relations for Latin America and is head of the giant Freeport Sulphur Company.

The unofficial but potent coalition between Republicans and Southern Democrats which has dominated Congress for years was broken in a dramatic session of the House Rules Committee last week.

It was broken on the issue of the school bill and civil rights, both of which involve Negro rights.

WOOLING NEGRO VOTE

What broke the coalition can be summarized in ten words: The Republican bid for Negro votes in big northern cities.

The change came when ex-Speaker Joe Martin passed out the word that four GOP members of the Rules Committee would vote with the Negroes to unblock civil rights and the school bill; namely Allen, Ill.; Brown, Ohio; Ellsworth, Ore.; Latham, N.Y.

When this switch became known, young Dick Bolling, Democratic congressman from Kansas City, staged a surprise move in the Rules Committee.

"Mr. Chairman," said Bolling, "I move that we go into closed session to consider acting on certain matters that are pending before the committee—including civil rights."

This sudden motion by a young congressman was a direct challenge to Virginia's chairman, Howard Smith, who has long ruled the Rules Committee.

"I take offense at that," Smith stammered, hardly able to believe his ears.

"This is the most brazen action that I have ever seen," declared Mississippi's Colmer. "Do you consider yourself the new chairman?"

"My only desire," insisted Bolling, "is to bring this issue to an action."

"As long as I've been on this committee," protested Chairman Smith, "and that's been for years, such a thing as this has never been done before. This is completely outside the usual procedure that we have followed, and I don't like it."

On Thank You's And Phone Books

NEW YORK—Somehow, it doesn't seem too important whether the H-bomb was dropped an inch or 40 miles off center when you get a letter like this:

"Dear Sirs:

"I am the mother of Lt. William R. Payne, navigator-timer of the B-52 crew which dropped the H-bomb in the Pacific. I want you to know of the benefit we got from the stories you sent from there in connection with this important event. Your correspondence relieved our great tension, lessened our anxieties and consoled us during the long periods of suspense which followed each postponement.

"You helped us over many bad hours for, see, we didn't know the secrets of that B-52 getaway power. We could not be sure, until your stories, that our son and the others could escape.

"Mrs. John Payne (205 Lindberg Street, Plainview, Tex.)"

The new 1956-57 Manhattan telephone book, now being distributed to the cliff dwellers, has five listings of firms named just "A."

Irving Zwyotow has again been nuzzled out of the cellar of the book by Zye Inc., oil burners and that sibilant suspect of semantics, ZZYZZY Zlamp Studio Co. "Atomic" listings go all the way from Atomic Associates Inc., to Atomic Undergrmt Co., and include the Atomic Bowl Lunchnet, Atomic Handbag Co., Atomic Leather Jackets Co., and Atomic Neckwear, which sounds a bit like a method of hanging a person by means of a chain reaction, but isn't.

There are now 1,678,708 phones on this sometimes tight little island (as opposed to 271 when the Bell people put out the first directory in 1878.) The new book contains 16 pages of timely reminders, including one to the effect that you can be thrown in the clink if you don't immediately relinquish a party line to make way for an emergency call (or if you grab such a line by falsely pleading an emergency.)

The phone book lover is patiently warned to stop using the ponderous tome as a safety deposit vault. It's a nuisance having people show up at the war-houses to search through mountains of collected old books for missing money, deeds, insurance policies, rent receipts, watches, letters, war medals and the like. Couple of years ago a local jeweler banked fifteen $100 bills in his phone book one night and upon returning home the following evening discovered that a new book had replaced the old one. He, his sister, her husband and two nephews, spent four days and nights leafing through 75,000 books before the dough fluttered out.

Sod House Society

Omaha, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: To those brave and courageous pioneers of Nebraska who erected sod houses and sod school houses on the plains of our state, where grew their children, we owe so much. For their perseverance and imagination, their descendants had wider opportunities.

The Sod House Society was formed to perpetuate the memory and incidents of those who resided and were schooled in sod house dwellings. The members of the society are grateful to the press for the recent publicity given in forming this new organization.

City-County Building

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: That we need more adequate housing for both county and city offices is not a debatable issue. Ruling out as unfeasible and uneconomical the rehabilitation of existing structures, we are left with but one alternative—the construction of one new building providing both economical and functional facilities for both governmental units.

We have no reason to expect a lessening of construction costs in the foreseeable future and since our need in no way lessens, it seems wise that we take action now.

Lincoln has so many things of beauty which reflect the farsighted planning of its citizens through the years. Now an opportunity is given us to help develop a civic center which will add much beauty to our city—a center in which we can take justifiable pride and which future citizens will be able to call good planning.

A vote for the Lincoln-Lancaster County Building will accomplish these things.

OLGA WEBB

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In a letter published in The Star June 12, the writer alleges that he is apprehensive about the use of revenue bonds to finance the construction of the proposed city-county building and also about the powers of the City-County Building Authority.

Lincoln residents are familiar with the use of revenue bonds. The expanded water system is financed by that method. The University of Nebraska has issued revenue bonds for the construction of dormitories and an extension of the Student Union. Under the proposed plan for financing the city-county building, the city and county offices will pay a rental charge to cover principal and interest until the building is paid for. The idea of the writer in his letter that an office might be thrown out of the building unless the rent is paid is ridiculous since the rental charges will be a part of the annual budgets of city and county. The new city-county buildings in Detroit and Port Huron are financed by revenue bonds and other cities are considering like financial plans.

The City-County Building Authority is the most recently appointed board or commission in Lincoln (in this case, joined by Lancaster County). There are 20 other boards and commissions made up in membership of civic-minded citizens who are devoting their time and talents to the improvement of community life. If one fears the word "authority," remember that Lincoln has had a Housing Authority for several years. The duties and powers of the City-County Building Authority, as defined by a Nebraska Statute of 1953, are planning, supervising and construction and managing the city-county building. Similarly the Library Board will plan, supervise and manage a new main library. Each of the five members of the City-County Building Authority has held either elective or appointive office in Lincoln or Lancaster County and is experienced in the affairs of local government. The authority acts as a landlord for the city and county in the construction and management of the proposed building. A building authority has completed in 1956 the $26 million city and county building for Detroit and Wayne County.

The use of revenue bonds for construction of public buildings and the appointment of a city-county building authority to supervise the construction and management are sound, modern and progressive ideas which are fitted for 1956 and ensuing years. Let us use them in the construction of an up-to-date office building for Lincoln and Lancaster County. Vote for the city-county building on June 26.

MRS. JOHN P. SENNING

The Tax Load

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Have you taken a look at your taxes lately? If you have, you know that they are too high as they stand. If you haven't, won't you take a look?

We of Lincoln cannot possibly afford the luxuries represented in the bond issue to be voted upon on June 26. Naturally everyone likes finer things, better things, more expensive things, but reason will tell you that if you cannot afford them, they should be postponed until the time you have the funds with which to purchase them.

As a wage earner, I am fully convinced that I cannot inveigle myself into further compromises. Personally I am carrying too much of a tax load now. I dare say that the great majority of clear-thinking Lincolinites of the wage-earner category feel as I do. Nebraska has been referred to as the "White Spot"—a misnomer if there ever was one. Federal taxes, county and state taxes, city taxes—what said "White Spot"? The future looks very dark, indeed.

Let the "big brass" tell us how much we would benefit by such additions. We know better. We have already yielded meekly to their auditorium site dictates. We will pay for that and for their new parking lots (watch for the price of parking to go up), but we should not, will not cater to their whims any longer.

Vote "no" to all three of the issues in the June 26 election and you will be doing yourself and your posterity a big favor.

A WAGE EARNER

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Society is composed of those who have and the "have-nots." While those who have are a minority, they are organized and financially able to circulate enough propaganda to confuse many of the have-not who are in the majority but who are too lazy or too indifferent to civic affairs to vote at a special election. The sponsors of the bond issue are aware of this fact and it is no doubt the reason for a special election regardless of the cost.

If the businessmen and those in the higher income brackets and special interests want these improvements, they should find some way to finance them without raising taxes on real estate which have been doubled in recent years.

Increase in taxes would mean little to them, but to the small home-owner it would create a hardship. I refer particularly to the elderly home-owners who are living on fixed incomes such as retirement pensions, social security or savings. Owing to the high cost of living, these people are trying desperately to find ways and means to provide for themselves. Any increase in taxes would mean a hardship for them.

If these projects are worthwhile, the people who can afford them should finance and support them. Hats off to Chris Kuhner for debunking the statement made by Clark Jeary as to the condition of the county courthouse.

Space At Premium

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There are 22,000 adult users of the public library. Our main library was outgrown 20 years ago. Built to serve a city of 40,000, it attempts to serve 124,000. Built to store 30,000 volumes, it stores 200,000.

There is not enough space to store the books to meet the current public demand—not enough space for reference materials the high school students can get nowhere else — no longer space for story hours, children's service, and film programs we used to offer 1,000 school children every Saturday.

There is not enough space to serve more branch libraries—not even space to provide enough books for the present branches. The main library is a "bottleneck" for all operations.

Lincoln needs a new main library. The proposed building has been carefully planned, the site scientifically selected. We can have the right building on the right location for a cost of only 45 cents per thousand of your assessed valuation.

THE LIBRARY BOARD

Hospital Financing

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There was a letter in The Star that incorrectly stated that the community hospital would be city managed. Anyone who has read the papers would know that the City Council has agreed to lease the hospital facility to a non-profit hospital corporation. All of Lincoln's three accredited hospitals are now managed by such non-profit hospital corporations.

In the case of the community hospital, this corporation's board would be composed one-third of Bryan representatives, one-third of Lincoln General representatives, and one-third of representatives from labor, business, religious, and civic groups acceptable to the first two groups and appointed by the mayor.

No tax funds of the city would be used to operate the new community hospital or any of the present hospitals. The maintenance and operating expenses of the new hospital would be handled identically with the present three hospitals by gifts, endowments, and patient charges. The corporation already has an endowment of $2 million and $200,000 of working capital is being raised by the Lincoln Community Hospital Fund.

MRS. F. L. FISHER

Ear-Deep In Taxes

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Those persons so ardently in favor of a new library, city-county building and medical center being built at public expense might find they could build these luxuries themselves with the handsome sums they have spent to propagandize the projects.

Seldom, if ever, have proposed bond issues received such lavish boosting.

No place, in all the advertisements, TV programs, radio blurbs or lapel buttons do I find "Mr. Average Taxpayer" showing enthusiasm for the project.

Perhaps that's because he, not those promoting the projects, is already taxed up to his ears for things the city and county really must have.

Fattening Up Cattle 'Silly,' Jordan Claims

POSTCARD

The PM station that plays a nice instrumental background for me these mornings has a sponsor at last.

Sponsors are rare on such stations.

Sponsors, and listeners, I guess, tune in to ladies who will "J u u u s t f r i e n d s , l o o o o o v e r s n o m o o o o o r e . . . " To which I have no objection. But it upsets my emotions.

The sponsor on the instrumental station offers tuxedos for rent.

I think this proves I am a high class listener. High class enough that the sponsor thinks I may rent a tuxedo.

I guess I should go down and rent one some day. To encourage the arts.

On the other hand, I may go into the tuxedo-renting business myself. I have dinner clothes that have scarcely been worn. And not because I do not eat dinner, either.

This is not a dinner-jacket community. Most of the parties here are geared to community affairs. Like the Aquacade.

We have an Aquacade once a year. Afterward we have various parties. Nearly everybody goes to the parties in the same costume they wear to the Aquacade. All except the people in the front rows. They are usually splashed and have to go home and change.

The Aquacade is for charity and quite an affair. My own daughter swam in it this year. Unfortunately I was out changing film when she went on, but I have not admitted this yet.

The big girls swim. The little girls are Brownies. Or Autumn Leaves. Or the Giant's Evil Thoughts. They mug quite a bit. And quite often one of them has to be led off to the dressing room for a quiet weeping. They always come back, though for the finale. Troupers all of them. The show must go on.

The music comes out of loud-speakers, out of a phonograph. The audience sits on camp chairs, which are gathered up at the end of the program by volunteer Boy Scouts.

For this the Boy Scouts get a plug from the lady who reads a list of thanks and gives a check to the head of the hospital. Then we go to the parties.

The parties are generally open-air. Or else I always get seated next to an open window.

Nobody wears a tuxedo. They wear aloha shirts. Except smart people like me, who don't care to catch their death of pneumonia. We carry an old tweed jacket in the car. During the evening we sneak out and put it on.

If I ever have to wear a tuxedo again I guess I will have to rent one. I have been looking at the ads and find mine is all out of style. The black one is O.K., but the white one is double-breasted. I could send it to one of those people who advertise they will make your clothes single-breasted. But if I did, the double-breasted model would come back. I am simply waiting for the new styles to catch up with me.

Looking back, I can about count on my fingers when I have been able to get into these expensive garments. Once on the Lurline, Captain's Night. Six times at the Royal Hawaiian. Once in New York at a dinner I wished I had never gone to.

Fattening Up Cattle 'Silly,' Jordan Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — The idea of feeding cattle without making them work struck Jordan farmers as silly, the Nebraska Congressional delegation was told at its weekly breakfast.

Rex Peters of Swanton, Neb., just back from a two-year assignment in Jordan, described his experiences. He was sent to Jordan by the International Co-operation Administration (ICA).

Jordan farmers, he said, had not been accustomed to just fattening up cattle. They "have come a long way but they still have a long way to go" in modernizing their methods, he said.

Peters plans to return to Nebraska this week. He hasn't decided whether he will continue with ICA but said there has been some discussion about sending him to Libya to teach American methods to farmers there.

Rev. Edgar Attends

Another breakfast guest was the Rev. Adrian J. Edgar, a Methodist minister at Norfolk for the past five years and now assigned to McCook.

The Rev. Mr. Edgar has been attending a national conference on community planning as a delegate from Nebraska. He is a member of the Governor's Youth Committee in Nebraska.

He said emphasis at the conference was on responsibility at the local level for community planning. Federal funds and agencies may aid the cities, he said, but primary responsibility rests at home.

Inmate Who Loves 'Gambling' Gets Life Term Cut

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

A 26-year-old Penitentiary inmate who admitted he "just loved to gamble" had his life sentence cut to 30 years Wednesday by the Board of Pardons and Parole.

The inmate, Columbus (Monk) Trimble, was serving a life sentence for the first degree murder of Leo Garcia.

Garcia was shot after taking $40.89 at gunpoint from a crap game being operated at the time by Trimble.

Trimble, who is from Scottsbluff, admitted to the Board he had shot and killed another man under similar circumstances.

Sentenced in April 1946, he has served 10 years and two months of his term.

Trimble was turned down for parole but can reappear before the Board to ask for parole within two years. He will be eligible for pardon in slightly less than 20 years, with time off for good time and extra work time.

The Board of Pardons granted paroles to four other inmates.

Paroles were granted to Jim Epps, 50, Tynhall, S. D., sentenced from Douglas County on two counts of no-fund checks involving $8,000; Earl Miller, 25, Bunkelman, for breaking and entering; Worth Alexander, 46, from Nebraska City, for sodomy involving an eight-year-old daughter, and Derold W. Titus, 25, for burglary and violation of bench parole, from Lancaster County.

Epps was sentenced to two seven-year terms Aug. 23, 1953. Miller started his three-year sentence in January, 1955, from Dundee and Alexander began his sentence in November, 1947. Titus was sentenced to two concurrent terms of seven and five years in October and December, 1952.

The paroled inmates now start an intensive two-week pre-release training program designed to prepare them for living in a society other than prison life. Actual release is set for July.

All five inmates, according to Associate Warden Bob Rudell, were carefully screened by a psychiatrist before being considered for release from the Penitentiary.

The Board is scheduled to sit Thursday on eight cases from the Reformatory. To be heard are:

Billy Joe Thompson, 24, of Yuma, Okla., for jail escape, sentenced from Box Butte County, in May, 1955.

James L. Hixon, 31, Pierce, Neb., sentenced from Dodge County to 1 to 3 years for no-account and violation of bench parole, in June, 1955.

Delmar Caldwell, 24, Perola, Cal., sentenced from Dodge County for no-account checks, 1 to 3 years, in June, 1955.

Gordon Hunsaker, 34, of Hastings, for jury, from Lancaster County, 1 to 3 years in March, 1955.

Edw. H. Dwyer, Missouri, Mont., obtaining money under false pretenses, from Lancaster County, 1 to 3 years in July, 1955.

Russell Wynore, 20, of Lincoln, sentenced from here in July, 1955, for forestry, from Lincoln County, Nebraska City, sentenced from Otoe County in August, 1955, for assault with intent to do great bodily injury.

Gilbert B. Dryden, 21, Hill City, Miss., for jury from Scottsbluff County, 2 to 10 years in September, 1954.

FAIRBURY, Neb.—One load of wheat was brought into an elevator here Wednesday, following the start of combining in this area at Barneston Tuesday.

The load tested 10.5 per cent moisture and about 60 pounds weight. This is about the same moisture content as the wheat reported at Barneston.

The wheat, from a farm three miles east of Fairbury, was estimated to run about 8 bushels to an acre.

The elevator expected more wheat Thursday if there was no more rain in the meanwhile.

A light rain Tuesday night had put off cutting of wheat in the Beatrice area until Thursday. More rain could put it off further.

Congress Asked To Study Flood Damage At Wauneta

WAUNETA, Neb. (U)—Congress is being asked to take into consideration damages from Saturday night's flash flood when acting on a private bill covering claims arising from earlier flood damage at Wauneta.

Charles M. Bosley of Palisade, attorney for the village board, said he had notified Congress of partment of Interior has recognized some responsibility for flood damages stemming from removal of the old Wauneta Light and Power Co. Dam in 1949.

He said he had a telegram from the department saying that the Bureau of Reclamation would undertake to remove silt and sand from the creek bed, which have raised the water level above the height it maintained before removal of the dam.

Bosley said no specific dollar amount was given the Congress for new damages, and none would be given until the damage is appraised, an attempt made to determine what portion of the blame should go back to the removal of the former dam.

He said the claims of some Wauneta residents living along the river have already been favorably considered by the Bureau of Reclamation and he now plans to learn what further claims of this sort there may be. Bosley said the village board is not at present contemplating bringing suit against the federal government, and said that the De-

Airline Service To Norfolk— Braniff Position Disputed By State Aviation Dept.

The State Aeronautics Department took exception Wednesday to the convention of Braniff Airways that the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) is acting too hastily in connection with a current action bearing on the continuance or discontinuance of Braniff Service to Norfolk, Neb., and other cities in North and South Dakota.

The Nebraska department's views were set out in a brief prepared for CAB consideration by Rush C. Clarke of North Platte, special assistant attorney general.

Braniff's permit to serve Norfolk and the other cities expires June 30 and Braniff had planned to drop service as of that date. But CAB has ordered Braniff to continue service beyond that day and Braniff has protested.

A CAB hearing on the case has been set for June 26.

The Nebraska Aeronautics Department contends that Braniff should be required to continue serving Norfolk until 60 days after a decision is reached in the CAB's current seven-state investigation.

CAB is seeking to determine the airline needs of the seven-state area, including Nebraska, and a hearing is scheduled at Omaha July 17.

Braniff has contended it was denied due process of law by the fact that the current proceeding was initiated only last April 18.

Clarke, however, wrote: "Just because lawyers when they can get away with it usually let their cases drag, does not mean that it is a denial of due process just because circumstances bring about a situation where litigation must be disposed of with reasonable dispatch, providing reasonable notice is given and a reasonable opportunity is had to present evidence and cross-examine witnesses."

County Officials Must 'Make Soil Bank Work'

Norris Anderson, associate extension economist for the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture extension service, told agricultural officials from five Nebraska counties Wednesday that

Farmers Vote Wheat Quota Plan July 20

Nebraska wheat farmers will vote July 20 in a national wheat quota referendum which will determine how farmers want to market their 1957 wheat crop, James H. Doolittle, chairman of the Lancaster County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee announced Wednesday.

The vote is on wheat marketing quotas and not wheat allotments, according to Doolittle, who said that acreage allotments will be in effect for the 1957 wheat crop whether quotas are approved or not.

Farmers who will harvest more than 15 acres of wheat as grain on a farm in 1957 are eligible to cast ballots. Polling places will be set up in convenient places in the county, Doolittle said, and wheat farmers will be notified where they may vote.

A two-thirds favorable vote means that marketing quotas and penalties on excess wheat will be in effect for the 1957 crop. Price support growers in the commercial area who comply with their wheat acreage allotments will be at the full level available — between 75 and 90 percent of parity.

Marketing quota have been approved by growers voting in referendums for the past three wheat crops. Last year, 77.3 percent of the growers voting favored quotas for the 1956 crop.

"the primary responsibility" for the success of the soil bank acreage reserve program rests on the shoulders of county officials.

Anderson, speaking at a meeting held in Lincoln to instruct county officials on details of the program, said that Congress passed "broad" legislation for a purpose — so that county officials throughout the nation could "fit the program" to the individual case, within limits imposed by the law.

The day-long conference was attended by county agents, county extension agents, county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office supervisors, county committee members, county office managers and office personnel who will handle details of the program for Colfax, Saunders, Butler, Lancaster and Seward counties.

Robert L. Zink, conservation specialist of the state ASC office in Lincoln, told the officials that their primary responsibility now was "to get this information to the farmer fast" so that those who are eligible will apply for participation in the program before the various deadlines which have been announced arrive.

He suggested that officials call several public meetings in their counties so that they can inform farmers in large groups, rather than undertaking the "nearly impossible" task of informing farmers individually. The first job facing county officials is to in-

R. S. Mockett Estate Left To His Wife

Robert S. Mockett, Lincoln attorney who died June 4 left his estate in a life trust for his wife, Minnie Mockett, and daughter, Kathryn M. Dawies, according to a will filed in Lancaster County Court.

The will provides the trust residue is to go in equal shares to the grandchildren or their heirs.

form the community committees in each county who will carry the information to the farmer. Anderson called the soil bank act "basically sound," but he warned that 1956 would likely be "a year of trial and error" for the program, 1957, he said, should be "easier."

Stressing the importance of a soil bank program which will "place fertility in reserve" by leaving land unplanted and thus cutting down production and surpluses, Anderson warned that wheat is going to be "hard to sell," abroad now. With wheat production up all over the world, he said, "we can no longer depend on foreign markets to release our surplus."

France, he said, now has a wheat surplus of her own.

The meeting primarily discussed the acreage reserve program of the soil bank legislation, which Zink described as "pretty well set."

The conservation reserve portion of the program is not settled enough yet for detailed discussion.

Norris Anderson, associate extension economist for the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture extension service, told agricultural officials from five Nebraska counties Wednesday that

Farmers Vote Wheat Quota Plan July 20

Nebraska wheat farmers will vote July 20 in a national wheat quota referendum which will determine how farmers want to market their 1957 wheat crop, James H. Doolittle, chairman of the Lancaster County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee announced Wednesday.

The vote is on wheat marketing quotas and not wheat allotments, according to Doolittle, who said that acreage allotments will be in effect for the 1957 wheat crop whether quotas are approved or not.

Farmers who will harvest more than 15 acres of wheat on grain on a farm in 1957 are eligible to cast ballots. Polling places will be set up in convenient places in the county, Doolittle said, and wheat farmers will be notified where they may vote.

A two-thirds favorable vote means that marketing quotas and penalties on excess wheat will be in effect for the 1957 crop. Price support growers in the commercial area who comply with their wheat acreage allotments will be at the full level available — between 75 and 90 percent of parity.

Marketing quota have been approved by growers voting in referendums for the past three wheat crops. Last year, 77.3 percent of the growers voting favored quotas for the 1956 crop.

"the primary responsibility" for the success of the soil bank acreage reserve program rests on the shoulders of county officials.

Anderson, speaking at a meeting held in Lincoln to instruct county officials on details of the program, said that Congress passed "broad" legislation for a purpose — so that county officials throughout the nation could "fit the program" to the individual case, within limits imposed by the law.

The day-long conference was attended by county agents, county extension agents, county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office supervisors, county committee members, county office managers and office personnel who will handle details of the program for Colfax, Saunders, Butler, Lancaster and Seward Counties.

Robert L. Zink, conservation specialist of the state ASC office in Lincoln, told the officials that their primary responsibility now was "to get this information to the farmer fast" so that those who are eligible will apply for participation in the program before the various deadlines which have been announced arrive.

He suggested that officials call several public meetings in their counties so that they can inform farmers in large groups, rather than undertaking the "nearly impossible" task of informing farmers individually. The first job facing county officials is to inform the community committee in each county who will carry the information to the farmer.

R. S. Mockett Estate Left To His Wife

Robert S. Mockett, Lincoln attorney who died June 4 left his estate in a life trust for his wife, Minnie Mockett, and daughter, Kathryn M. Dawies, according to a will filed in Lancaster County Court.

The will provides the trust residue is to go in equal shares to the grandchildren or their heirs.

Anderson called the soil bank act "basically sound," but he warned that 1956 would likely be "a year of trial and error" for the program. 1957, he said, should be "easier."

Stressing the importance of a soil bank program which will "place fertility in reserve" by leaving land unplanted and thus cutting down production and surpluses, Anderson warned that wheat is going to be "hard to sell," abroad now. With wheat production up all over the world, he said, "we can no longer depend on foreign markets to release our surplus."

France, he said, now has a wheat surplus of her own. The meeting primarily discussed the acreage reserve program of the soil bank legislation, which Zink described as "pretty well set."

The conservation reserve portion of the program is not settled enough yet for detailed discussion.

Refugee Claims U.N. Soviets Tried To Force Him Into Espionage

Nebraskan Writing Threatening Notes Escapes Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — A man committed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital two years ago for writing threatening letters to President Eisenhower has escaped, the hospital reported.

David O. Livingston, 52, of North Platte, Neb., walked out of a ward and climbed a wall to freedom, hospital authorities said.

Threatening letters addressed to the President while he was vacationing in Denver, Colo., in the summer of 1954 were traced to Livingston police said, and he subsequently was committed to the hospital.

captain in the Soviet army, said the pair "implied" that Arkady A. Sobolev, chief of the U.S.S.R. delegation, was aware of their pressure tactics.

Shatov identified the two subordinate officials as Aleksei Petukhov, director of the U.N. technical assistance program for Asia and the Far East, and Rostislav Shapovalov, second secretary in the Russian mission to the United Nations.

Reported To Day
At U.N. headquarters, a spokesman declined comment on Shatov's account beyond saying it had been called to the attention of Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld. Shatov, now an archivist on the staff of Columbia University, was interviewed by reporters at the offices of the American Committee for Liberation from Bolshevism.

The activities of Russian diplomats in this country have been the target of criticism recently by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. The Senate group disclosed that the State Department had rejected its recommendation that Sobolev be expelled from the country on the grounds that members of his staff "used coercion, force and duress" to cause the abrupt defection of five Russian seamen in April.

Magazine Report
The news conference with Shatov followed publication of a report by Newsweek magazine that the ex-captain had been approached by two Russian diplomats under circumstances similar to that described in Senate subcommittee correspondence with the State Department.

The Senate group did not disclose where it had learned of recent "pressure tactics" but Shatov said he previously had given his story to Senate investigators.

The former Russian officer, who refused to disclose where he now lives with his wife and 11-year-old son, said Petukhov and Shapovalov frequently talked to him outside Columbia classrooms—where they were studying English—and tried "to pressure me—to try to make me a spy."

Joyce Sporn Is Bride

Pedestal arrangements of pink and white gladioli, against a screen of greenery, and lighted candles in seven-branched candelabra formed the background for the wedding of Miss Joyce Ann Sporn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Sporn, and Paris Milton Rutherford, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paris Milton Rutherford Jr., of Dallas, Tex., which was an event of Wednesday evening, June 20, at the Grace Methodist Church. The Rev. Harold Sandall solemnized the 8 o'clock ceremony, and Miss Patricia Alvord, organist, played the wedding music. Miss Alvord also accompanied Mrs. Donald Gosard, the vocal soloist.

Crystalline over taffeta fashioned the pastel aqua-toned frocks of the attendants who were Miss Kay Erickson, the maid of honor; Miss Mary Sorenson of Hebron, the bridesmaid, and Mrs. Stanley Matzke Jr., the bridesmatron. The circle necklines of the cap-sleeved, elongated bodices dipped to shoulders and were ornamented with soft bows, and the extremely bouffant skirts were waltz-length. Each carried a colonial bouquet of white gladioli and pink carnations. Mrs. William Hill and Mrs. Barry Goldberg lighted the candles.

Paris Milton Rutherford Jr.,

served as best man, and seating the guests were James Rutherford of Dallas, Tex., brother of the bridegroom; Ray Sporn, brother of the bride; Larry Sandall and William Hill.

White Chantilly lace and tulle over satin was chosen by the bride for her wedding. Beneath a long-sleeved lace jacket, framed at the throat with a Peter Pan collar, the bare-shouldered bodice was smoothly sculptured. The exceedingly full skirt created of ruffled tiers of lace, had full length front and back panels of lace. A calot of Chantilly lace, dotted with seed pearls held to her head her veil of silk illusion, and she carried a cascade of white gladioli and stephanotis.

Following the reception in the church parlors Mr. Rutherford and his bride left for a honeymoon trip through the southern states after which they will go to San Antonio where they will reside at 219 Kennedy.

Mrs. Rutherford will be graduated in August from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority, and Phi Upsilon Omicron, Home Economics honorary. Mr. Rutherford was graduated from Southern Methodist University and now is stationed with the Army at Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio.

NCO Wives Name New Officers

At their June meeting, held on Tuesday evening at the NCO Club, LAFB, the members of the NCO Wives Club elected new officers as follows: Mrs. Jack Libby, president; Mrs. Paul Grant, first vice president; Mrs. Malcolm McPheeters, second vice president; Mrs. George Vogel, secretary;

Mrs. Max Marsh, treasurer; Mrs. William Lay, assistant treasurer; and board members Mrs. Charles Songer and Mrs. William Priddy.

WE CAN'T bear it—but it's here—the longest day of the year, and from now on the days will grow shorter and shorter in the daylight department—But there will be no difference in the news which has a dark-to-dawn habit that is unbreakable—Nice for us who like our news the first thing every morning—

THIS morning we heard that Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Campbell are back in town after a holiday spent at their summer home away up in the north woods—

AND we learned that Dr. and Mrs. Russell Gustavson are arriving today—They are flying in from Washington, D. C., where they have been spending the past 10 days with Dr. Gustavson's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Reuben Gustavson.

Dr. Gustavson will leave on Tuesday to plane home to Portland, Ore., but Mrs. Gustavson, the former Peggy Lawrie, will remain in Lincoln for a longer visit with her mother, Mrs. Ed. H. Lawrie.

A POPULAR guest in town at the moment is Mrs. Henry Sollet Wygant of St. Louis, Mo., who is spending some time as the house guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Capt. and Mrs.

Thomas Donovan. Mrs. Wygant, who arrived early in June, plans to remain for another week.

Complimenting Mrs. Wygant last Monday were Mrs. Ivan Rezny and Mrs. Andrew Hare who were coffee hostesses at the home of Mrs. Rezny.

And a Tuesday courtesy for Mrs. Wygant was the luncheon for which Mrs. Arthur Berry was hostess when she entertained at her home.

OFF to Lisco tomorrow will go Mr. and Mrs. Gene Eaton who will attend the wedding of Mrs. Eaton's sister, Miss Barbara Olson, and Charles Ferguson of North Platte which takes place on Saturday afternoon.

While in Lisco Mr. and Mrs. Eaton will be the house guests of Mrs. Eaton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Olson.

SOMEONE told us that Miss Ruth Ann Richmond will be an honoree on Friday evening when her Sigma Kappa sisters entertain at a farewell party between the hours of 8 o'clock and 10 o'clock at the home of Mrs. William Maly.

Miss Richmond, a June graduate from the University of Nebraska College of Engineering, leaves Monday for Salt Lake City where she has accepted a position with a copper mining company.

Celebrates Birthday

In celebration of her seventh birthday anniversary Pamela Sue Barba entertained six of her contemporaries at a party on Tuesday evening at her home. The very young Miss Barba is the daughter of S.Sgt. and Mrs. Eddie Barba.

We hear that Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Whisenand and their two children, Vicki and Billy, spent two weeks with Mrs. Whisenand's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Schmale at Holdrege.

And speaking of vacations, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Buettgenbach are enjoying a week of

Council Presidents' Workshop

Among the workshops conducted during the two-day meeting of the Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers, held in Lincoln Wednesday and Thursday of this week, was that of the PTA Council presidents who discussed their plans for the coming year with the field consultant of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, Mrs. Ellen Dell Beiler of Chicago.

Joyce Sporn Is Bride

Pedestal arrangements of pink and white gladioli, against a screen of greenery, and lighted candles in seven-branched candelabra formed the background for the wedding of Miss Joyce Ann Sporn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Sporn, and Paris Milton Rutherford, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paris Milton Rutherford Jr., of Dallas, Tex., which was an event of Wednesday evening, June 20, at the Grace Methodist Church. The Rev. Harold Sandall solemnized the 8 o'clock ceremony, and Miss Patricia Alvord, organist, played the wedding music. Miss Alvord also accompanied Mrs. Donald Gosard, the vocal soloist.

Crystallite over taffeta fashioned the pastel aqua-toned frocks of the attendants who were Miss Kay Erickson, the maid of honor; Miss Mary Sorenson of Hebron, the bridesmaid, and Mrs. Stanley Matzke Jr., the bridesmatron. The circle necklines of the cap-sleeved, elongated bodices dipped to shoulder length at the back where they were ornamented with soft bows, and the extremely bouffant skirts were waltz-length. Each carried a colonial bouquet of white gladioli and pink carnations. Mrs. William Hill and Mrs. Barry Goldberg lighted the candles.

Paris Milton Rutherford Jr.,

served as best man, and seating the guests were James Rutherford of Dallas, Tex., brother of the bridegroom; Ray Sporn, brother of the bride; Larry Sandall and William Hill.

White Chantilly lace and tulle over satin was chosen by the bride for her wedding. Beneath a long-sleeved lace jacket, framed at the throat with a Peter Pan collar, the bare-shouldered bodice was smoothly sculptured. The exceedingly full skirt created of ruffled tiers of lace, had full length front and back panels of lace. A calot of Chantilly lace, dotted with seed pearls held to her head her veil of silk illusion, and she carried a cascade of white glamelias and Stephanotis.

Following the reception in the church parlors Mr. Rutherford and his bride left for a honeymoon trip through the southern states after which they will reside at 219 Kennedy.

Mrs. Rutherford will be graduated in August from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority, and Phi Upsilon Omicron, Home Economics honorary. Mr. Rutherford was graduated from Southern Methodist University and now is stationed with the Army at Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio.

We Can't Bear It--

WE CAN'T bear it—but it's here—the longest day of the year, and from now on the days will grow shorter and shorter in the daylight department—But there will be no difference in the news which has a dark-to-dawn habit that is unbreakable—Nice for us who like our news the first thing every morning—

THIS morning we heard that Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Campbell are back in town after a holiday spent at their summer home away up in the north woods—

AND we learned that Dr. and Mrs. Russell Gustavson are arriving today—They are flying in from Washington, D. C., where they have been spending the past 10 days with Dr. Gustavson's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Reuben Gustavson.

Dr. Gustavson will leave on Tuesday to plane home to Portland, Ore., but Mrs. Gustavson, the former Peggy Lawrie, will remain in Lincoln for a longer visit with her mother, Mrs. Ed. H. Lawrie.

A POPULAR guest in town at the moment is Mrs. Henry Sollett Wygant of St. Louis, Mo., who is spending some time at the house guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Capt. and Mrs.

Thomas Donovan. Mrs. Wygant, who arrived early in June, plans to remain for another week.

Complimenting Mrs. Wygant last Monday were Mrs. Ivan Reznay and Mrs. Andrew Hare who were coffee hostesses at the home of Mrs. Reznay.

And a Tuesday courtesy for Mrs. Wygant was the luncheon for which Mrs. Arthur Berry was hostess when she entertained at her home.

OFF to Lisco tomorrow will go Mr. and Mrs. Gene Eaton who will attend the wedding of Mrs. Eaton's sister, Miss Barbara Olson, and Charles Ferguson of North Platte which takes place on Saturday afternoon.

While in Lisco Mr. and Mrs. Eaton will be the house guests of Mrs. Eaton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Olson.

SOMEONE told us that Miss Ruth Ann Richmond will be an honoree on Friday evening when her Sigma Kappa sisters entertain at a farewell party between the hours of 8 o'clock and 10 o'clock at the home of Mrs. William Maly.

Miss Richmond, a June graduate from the University of Nebraska College of Engineering, leaves Monday for Salt Lake City where she has accepted a position with a copper mining company.

Celebrates Birthday

In celebration of her seventh birthday anniversary Pamela Sue Barba entertained six of her contemporaries at a party on Tuesday evening at her home. The very young Miss Barba is the daughter of S.Sgt. and Mrs. Eddie Barba.

We suspect that the guests in the home of Mrs. Ted Ribblett on Wednesday morning, June 18, enjoyed their get-together for a coffee hour. Mrs. Ribblett entertained three of her neighbors, Mrs. Delos Moulton, Mrs. Glen Manske, and Mrs. Jack Way.

We hear that Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Whisenand and their two children, Vicki and Billy, spent two weeks with Mrs. Whisenand's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Schmale at Holdrege.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

Our stroll through the East-borough area was as pleasant as usual this morning—We picked up news of guests and travelers—found some new neighbors in the vicinity—and of course there are vacationists and homecomers—

The new neighbors we mentioned are Mr. and Mrs. Ben Potts and their children, Janie and Benny, who are busy getting settled in their new home in Eastborough. Mr. Potts, who is associated with the Continental Oil Co., and his family arrived in Lincoln a week ago.

There was plenty of fun for 20 cub scouts and their parents last Friday evening, June 15, when they gathered in Bethany Park for a picnic supper. After the picnic, the cubs, who are members of den 39, enjoyed a game of baseball in the park.

Stan Prier and his son, Randall, of Eastborough, will be the only two representatives from den 39 to attend the annual cub-dad week end at Camp Miniskuya this week.

Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Robert Regler and their two daughters returned from a week's vacation in Colorado. The Reglers were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Showalter in Craig, Colo.

And speaking of vacations, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Buettgenbach are enjoying a week of Hear that the Reibolt family now is a threesome—Mr. and Mrs. Myrlyn Reibolt have announced the birth of a son, Jeffrey Lynn, on Sunday, June 10, at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Fathers' Day was a busy affair at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strong—Mr. and Mrs. Strong and their daughter, Cindy honored Mrs. Strong's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Terry, at a steak-fry at their home on Sunday. Included among the guests were Mrs. Strong's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hill and their children, Sandra and Terry, of Torrance, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wimmer and their children, Connie and Mark.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill and their family, by the way, are spending the week as the house guests of Dr. and Mrs. Strong.

Discovered guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Ewing, too—Mrs. Ewing's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hunt and their family, have come from Marshalltown, Ia., to spend a week with Mr. and Mrs. Ewing.

HST Moved To Tears As Oxford Honors Him

... Plea Made For Underprivileged

By EDDY GILMORE

OXFORD, Eng. (U) — Harry S. Truman got an honorary degree Wednesday from ancient Oxford University in a ceremony that moved him to tears.

Wednesday night, he solemnly appealed in a speech for a fuller life for underprivileged people.

The former President did not mention Negroes as such but there was no doubt that at one point he was referring to their restricted status in some areas of the United States.

"Every person born in the 20th century is entitled to the benefits of the 20th century," Truman said at a meeting attended by 400 returning graduates of Oxford's Christ Church College.

"In my country, to our sorrow, there are those who are still denied full citizenship in some of our states, and denied full stature as human beings by some of our citizens still living in an intellectual and moral dark age," Truman said.

The nations of the West, he said, must extend the benefits of their democracy and their abundant ways of life to the rest of the world, including those peoples now awakening in the Orient, Africa, and the Pacific islands.

"In short, we must declare in a new Magna Carta, in a new Declaration of Independence, that henceforth economic well-being and security, that health and education and decent living standards are among our inalienable rights."

Truman said every man is entitled to the full benefit of the best in medicine, every boy and girl to the highest educational training from which they can profit.

He said old people should not have economic worries in their declining years.

Earlier in the day the university had given him the honorary degree of doctor of civil law. He was the only foreigner to be honored at Wednesday's scholastic ceremony with its solemn procession.

With brimming eyes, Truman had the degree conferred upon him by Lord Halifax, university chancellor who was ambassador to Washington from 1941 to 1946.

With the honor, Halifax spoke this eulogy: "Trust of allies, direct in your speech and in your writings, and ever a pattern of simple courage."

At one point of the ceremonies, Truman whispered to a reporter, "Never, never in my life, did I ever think I'd be a Yank at Oxford."

Gallup Poll In Latin

During the ceremony, public orator Thomas R. Higham raised a loud laugh in the audience when he referred in Latin to Truman's victory in the 1948 presidential election. Political polls had predicted the triumph of his republican opponent, New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

The orator said: "Heu vatium ignarae mentes quid vota repulsum, quid promissa iuvant? Tua quid praesagia, Gallup?"

Truman, who never went to college, had been given an English translation before he received the degree.

It said: "The seers saw not your defeat, poor soul. Vain prayers, vain promises, vain Gallup Poll."

Speaking about it later, Truman said: "The orator suggested that when I heard the world Gallup, that was the time to laugh. 'I did, too.'"

JEROME NATHANSON

'God-Based' Public School Is Criticized

A trend towards a "God-created, God-based" curriculum, which could result in the end of the public school system as it now exists, was criticized by a New York City religious leader in Lincoln Wednesday night.

Jerome Nathanson, chairman of the board of leaders of the New York Society for Ethical Culture, said well-meaning educators and religious leaders throughout the country who seek to have both spiritual and moral values taught in public schools could bring about the downfall of such schools.

He cited a "released time plan" and a "theistic orientation of curriculum" as examples of misguided efforts of these well-meaning persons.

The next step, he predicted, would be denominational schools financed by the public.

Nathanson offered this solution: teach moral values in the public schools and leave spiritual training for the church and home.

Nathanson said he believes the public schools have been doing a much better job of teaching moral values than they have been given credit for.

Nathanson is a member of the executive board of the American Ethical Union, a religious organization. He is also a director of the International Humanist and Ethical Union.

He will speak Thursday afternoon at a clinic on "What Can We Do for the Development of Moral Values in Children and Youth?" at the University of Nebraska.

Feeling Fit as a Fiddle? Dr. Walter C. Alvarez column "Medical Round-up" appearing in the "Sunday Journal and Star" gives sound advice on how to keep healthy.

The three are Foreign Ministers Lester Pearson of Canada, Halvard Lange of Norway and Gaetano Martino of Italy. They are meeting behind closed doors for three days at NATO headquarters.

Judgment Against Building Authority Asked By Plaintiff

The Lancaster District Court has been asked to enter judgment against the Lincoln-Lancaster County Building Authority for alleged failure to "demur, answer or otherwise plead" to a declaratory judgment action attacking its validity and constitutionality.

The taxpayer's suit, filed by Edward A. Wagner of 2837 Summer, asked the court to declare 1953 state enabling legislation under which the Authority was created to be invalid and unconstitutional.

Plaintiff's motions to enjoin the disbursement of funds allocated to the Authority by the city and county have been denied by the court. Each had appropriated $4,500 for the Authority's use.

The new motion, filed by Leo N. Bartunek, the plaintiff's attorney, alleges the statutory time has expired for the defendant to demur, answer, or plead to the suit.

The motion alleges the plaintiff is legally entitled to have judgment entered in his favor pursuant to the prayers of his petition.

Mayhem Charged In Acid Throwing

OMAHA (U)—A charge of mayhem was filed Wednesday against Mrs. Genevieve Santos Moreno, 40, in connection with an acid throwing incident.

Detectives said Mrs. Moreno admitted she threw a caustic solution into the eyes of her ex-husband, Jose Moreno, 23 early Tuesday. She said she did it in self defense. Central Criminal Court Judge James O'Brien set bond at $1,000. Mrs. Moreno's attorney argued that she is the sole support of four children.

Moreno is at Veterans Hospital and doctors have said he will be permanently blind. His condition was reported slightly improved Wednesday.

The country is just as bad as the cities if you include the moonshiners and the barn players. Most road companies come here a successful tour in six or seven stolen station wagons.

Mr. Hoover's sterilized statistics show that 93 out of 100 shorted heaps are recovered. But diamonds, grouch bells and furs all disappear like the pointed end of an ice cream cone.

Three former champions including the defending titlist reached the quarterfinals in the Women's City Golf Tournament at Hillcrest Country Club Wednesday.

Sara Lehman, the 1954 and 1955 winner, beat ex-champion Peg Anderson 5 and 4. Two other former champions did even better than Sara.

Today's pairings match Miss Lehman with Thelma Woods, a strong contender from Pioneers. Mrs. Fisher must play Mary Ann Leggett, who drew a first-round bye, and Mrs. Hyland will oppose another strong challenger in Dorothy Schwartzkopf.

First-round matches in all divisions were somewhat one-sided. Closest contest of the day found Betty Hans going one extra hole to beat Ruth Tillman, one up, in a nine-hole match.

Satterfield Decisions Summerlin

By JERRY LISK

CHICAGO (U)—Chicago's unpredictable Bob Satterfield knocked young Johnny Summerlin down in the third round and went on to win a unanimous 10-round decision in their heavyweight bout Wednesday night. Summerlin weighed 194, Satterfield 183.

The defeat ended Summerlin's 12-bout winning streak.

A 3-1 underdog, the 32-year-old Satterfield disregarded an 11-pound deficit to spoil the title ambitions of his 24-year-old Detroit rival. Summerlin was gunning for a bout with Bob Baker in the chase after retired Rocky Marciano's vacated crown.

Summerlin suffered only his fifth defeat in 37 pro bouts.

The Chicago Stadium battle was decided in the third round when Satterfield blasted Summerlin with a series of rights that dumped Johnny on the apron of the ring seconds before the round ended.

The bell sounded at the count of seven and it was questionable whether Summerlin could have gotten back into action with more time left.

Referee Bernie Weissman called it for Satterfield, 98-89, while the two judges, Ed Hintz and John Bray, called it for Chicago Bob, 96-89, and 92-91 respectively. The Associated Press scored it for Satterfield, 95-92.

Summerlin suffered only his fifth defeat in 37 pro bouts.

The Chicago Stadium battle was decided in the third round when Satterfield blasted Summerlin with a series of rights that dumped Johnny on the apron of the ring seconds before the round ended.

The bell sounded at the count of seven and it was questionable whether Summerlin could have gotten back into action with more time left.

Referee Bernie Weissman called it for Satterfield, 98-89, while the two judges, Ed Hintz and John Bray, called it for Chicago Bob, 96-89, and 92-91 respectively. The Associated Press scored it for Satterfield, 95-92.

Satterfield Decisions Summerlin

By JERRY LISK

CHICAGO (U)—Chicago's unpredictable Bob Satterfield knocked young Johnny Summerlin down in the third round and went on to win a unanimous 10-round decision in their heavyweight bout Wednesday night. Summerlin weighed 194, Satterfield 183.

The defeat ended Summerlin's 12-bout winning streak.

A 3-1 underdog, the 32-year-old Satterfield disregarded an 11-pound deficit to spoil the title ambitions of his 24-year-old Detroit rival. Summerlin was gunning for a bout with Bob Baker in the chase after retired Rocky Marciano's vacated crown.

Summerlin suffered only his fifth defeat in 37 pro bouts.

The Chicago Stadium battle was decided in the third round when Satterfield blasted Summerlin with a series of rights that dumped Johnny on the apron of the ring seconds before the round ended.

The bell sounded at the count of seven and it was questionable whether Summerlin could have gotten back into action with more time left.

The State Polio Advisory Committee's recommendation that all Nebraskans under 20 years of age and expectant mothers be made eligible for anti-polio inoculations eligible for anti-polio inoculations the Nebraska Board of Health.

Persons one to 14 currently are eligible. Extension of the age limits was voted recently by the Advisory Committee because of the increasing supplies of the vaccine coming into the state.

Dr. E. A. Rogers, state health director, said the board which meets next Monday probably will recommend also that special consideration be given those Nebraska youngsters who participated in field trials giving the vaccine its first major test. Booster shots have been recommended for these "Polio pioneers," who took their shots in quicker succession than now is recommended. A seven-month wait currently is recommended before the third or "booster" shot in the series is given.

The Health Board also may open the door to booster shots generally, at the discretion of doctors when vaccine is available, Dr. Rogers said.

Technicians and nurses who work with polio patients also may be made eligible for the vaccine.

Burlington Asks To Discontinue Winslow Agency

The Burlington Railroad asked the State Railway Commission for permission to discontinue its agency at Winslow, a town of about 150 persons 14 miles north of Fremont, and substitute a custodian or caretaker who would work one hour a day, five days a week.

Winslow is on the Ashland-to-Sioux City, Ia., line and is served by a northbound freight on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, and by a southbound freight on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

During the first four months of this year, revenue creditable to the Winslow station totaled $1,212.08 while costs totaled $1,560.86, the railroad said. In 1955 revenue totaled $3,408.01 and costs, $4,468.21; in 1954, $5,905.26 and $4,377.66, the application stated.

Proximity of Winslow to Fremont and to Oakland, 16 miles to the north, plus the town's location on Highway 77 assures adequate service even if the agency is discontinued, the railroad contended.

Fair Board Gives State Wool Show Separate Status

The Nebraska State Fair Wool Show will be a separate department for the 1956 fair, Fair Board Secretary Ed Schultz said.

The reason, he said, is that the quantity and quality of entries has been growing rapidly since the wool competition was first held two years ago as a division of the sheep show.

The grand championship fleece last year, shown by the University of Nebraska, went on to win the reserve championship in the National Wool Show held in connection with the American Royal Exposition.

The 1956 wool show will be held on the second floor of the beef cattle barn during the fair at Lincoln Sept. 1 through 7.

Hospitals make no profit! As a patient you pay only toward

As a citizen, you are now asked to contribute toward the hospital plant and equipment. Cash donations alone aren't enough to build hospitals! # U.S. Won't Play 'Can You Top This' With Russia Over Huge Egyptian Dam

WASHINGTON (U) — The United States was described Wednesday as ready to bow out of the Aswan Dam picture rather than try to top a reported Soviet offer to finance the entire billion-dollar Egyptian project.

Officials emphasized, however, that the American offer still stands.

This apparently put the issue squarely up to Egypt's Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser, who is said to be toying with the idea of accepting a new offer by Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov.

Substantial Agreement
Shepilov is visiting Egypt now. So is Eugene R. Black, president of the World Bank, who negotiated a "substantial agreement" with Nasser last February to the American plan for financing what would be the world's biggest dam.

American officials conceded that, should Russia take over financing of the $1,300,000,000 dam, it would be called a major diplomatic defeat for the United States.

But they said it would not be a total loss. For one thing, they said, it would demonstrate to the world that the United States is no going to up the size of its aid every time Russia makes what looks like a better offer.

Some neutral nations and Middle East countries allied with the United States, like Pakistan, have questioned whether Washington is not susceptible to this kind of pressure.

Not That Way
Secretary of State Dulles has said many times that it is not. He has also said it is unlikely the United States would join Russia in any Aswan Dam financing.

The American plan is two-phased. In the preliminary phase, Egypt would use part of its own contribution of 900 million dollars, plus outright grants of 55 millions from the United States and 15 millions from Britain. In the second phase, the World Bank would provide 200 millions in a loan and Britain and the United States would put up the remaining 130 millions in a grant. The whole thing would take about 20 years.

Nasser never has picked up the 70 millions allocated by Britain

The whole thing would take about 20 years.

Nasser never has picked up the 70 millions allocated by Britain and France. It has been available since February, but he delayed on grounds he first wants to reach agreement with neighboring Sudan on division of the Nile waters which would be dammed.

Sudan Not Interested
The Sudan, beset by the problems of getting a new government organized, has shown no interest in negotiating a water division agreement. The United States has tried to prod the Sudan into getting the talks started, but to no avail.

American officials said there are other possible advantages to dropping the Aswan Dam project — aside from demonstrating that the United States won't be pressured into bettering Soviet aid offers.

For one thing, they said, there might be stronger support for the administration's nearly five-billion-dollar foreign aid bill. Southern Congress members, fearful the dam might aid Egypt to increase cotton production which would compete with Dixie's output, have grumbled against the project.

Parties Split On Al Sarena Report

Demos Hit 'Illegal' Davis Action; GOP OKs Mining Claim Grants

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Al Sarena case broke out in a blaze of election-year charge and countercharge Wednesday in split reports by the House Government Operations Committee.

The Democratic majority accused the Interior Department of giving mining rights to Al Sarena Mines, Inc., which they said took "not one cupful of ore" but cut more than two million board feet of timber from national forest land in Oregon.

The Republican minority accused the Democrats of "headlong political bias." They said the 15 disputed mining patents, which include timber rights, were properly issued under the law.

The Democrats hit particularly at Clarence A. Davis, now under secretary of Interior for what they termed illegal and precipitous action towards granting the patents when he was the department's solicitor in 1954.

They called on the attorney general to seek cancellation of the patents "in order to protect the interests of the United States."

The Republicans praised Davis for "dispassionate" handling of the case and said they would welcome a review by the Justice Department.

From innocent beginnings the case has been adroitly manipulated into a 'giveaway' cause celebre," the minority said.

"When the emotionalism, the unwarranted accusations, the distortion of fact and the inverted logic of the perpetrators of this attack are stripped away the case remains — as it was at the outset — a question of law."

"The mining law is clear. A miner with a valid mining claim containing mineral deposits is entitled to a patent. It is that simple."

The split reports came out of stormy hearings begun last fall by a joint House-Senate subcommittee. The subcommittee chairman on the House side was Rep. Chudoff (D-Pa) while the senior Republicans on his group were Michigan Reps. Knox and Clare E. Hoffman.

The Senate group, with Sens. Murray (D-Mont) and Malone (R-Nev) as its senior member, has yet to approve a report.

At issue are patents covering 475 acres of the Rogue River National Forest in Oregon.

The Democrats said the timber can be estimated at worth more than $200,000. The Republicans said the only official valuation ever attached was $77,000 — and that $100,000 to $200,000 worth of "building toward a mining enterprise" has been done on the property.

Al Sarena originally asked for the mining patents under the Truman administration but failed to get them. The Forest Service protested that the land contained insufficient minerals to warrant mining. The company's appeal on the case was still pending when the Eisenhower administration took over the Interior Department in 1953.

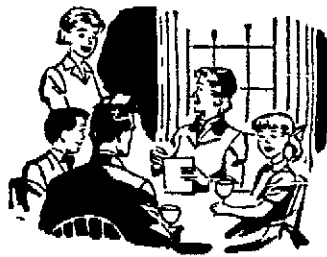

Davis issued instructions that new mineral samples be taken. The samples were sent for assay to a firm in Mobile, Ala., where the Al Sarena Company has its headquarters. The assay was reported favorably and Davis thereupon issued the patents.

Wife, Surprise Witness, Accuses Husband Of Slapping Son Before Tot Died

ELIZABETH, N.J. — In a drama-charged courtroom scene Wednesday, a housewife called as a surprise defense witness turned and accused her husband of violently slapping their ill 6-week-old son to stop his crying shortly before the baby died.

George Kurdyla, 27, listened in stunned, ashen-faced silence to the unexpected testimony from his young wife and then, after a conference with his lawyer, changed the plea in his murder trial from innocent to no defense.

The plea cut short the three-day trial. Union County Judge Milton Feller set July 31 for sentencing.

Kurdyla had just taken the stand to deny shaking or slapping the infant and insisted he loved his son.

Mrs. Alice Kurdyla, an attractive, 22-year-old housewife, sat quietly in the third row. She had refused earlier in the week to testify against her husband for the state, so an air of suspense settled over the courtroom as she was called to the stand by defense attorney Benny A. Dudek.

In hushed tones while the jury members leaned forward to hear, she answered questions on the events of the early morning of March 11 at their home in nearby Cranford.

She recalled that her husband came home about 1:10 a.m. after drinking beer at a nearby tavern, went to bed, and then woke to pick up the crying baby about 6 a.m.

Without looking at her husband, Mrs. Kurdyla testified her husband slapped the baby violently about seven times on the head with "the strength of my husband."

Kurdyla, if sentenced for second-degree murder, could be sent to prison for a maximum of 30 years.

HARDIN ASKS USDA TO PUT DISEASES LAB IN STATE

A preliminary overture was made Wednesday by NU Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin to the U.S. Department of Agriculture in an effort to have the proposed $18 million animal diseases laboratory located in Nebraska.

In his proposal, Chancellor Hardin cited the advantages of a site adjacent to the University of Nebraska.

The proposal was directed to Dr. B. T. Shaw, administrator of the Agricultural Research Service of the U.S.D.A. in Washington, D.C.

Dr. Hardin informed Dr. Shaw that the University of Nebraska will present a complete proposal and make an oral presentation at the meeting of the Laboratory Site Committee, to be held in St. Louis next Wednesday.

Among the factors stressed by Dr. Hardin for locating the laboratory in Nebraska were the University's scientific facilities, Lincoln's favorable labor market, utilities and accessibility, and availability of suitable land for a site.

Dr. Hardin explained if for any reason a site near Lincoln did not prove acceptable, other sites in Nebraska would be available.

The University of Nebraska was invited earlier by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson to appear at the St. Louis meeting to represent Nebraska as a proposed site for the Laboratory.

Chancellor Hardin said the U.S. Department of Agriculture announcement said between 100 and 200 families will be brought to the Laboratory and in addition that 100 to 200 persons will be employed locally.

Diploma Just A Start, Milford Graduates Told

LINCOLN STAR SPECIAL

MILFORD, Neb.—Milford Trade School graduates were told Wednesday night that a diploma is just the beginning in their careers and that "something else is needed" before they can be called successful.

Making the talk to the graduates was Dr. Freeman B. Decker, Nebraska Commissioner of Education.

Dr. Decker said receiving the diplomas is "merely the completion of a course preparing" them for a trade. He said the graduates had a responsibility to participate in all community activities, such as school board, city councils, and the PTA.

Personal appearance also will have a major part in the way they conduct their lives, they were told.

The education commissioner urged the graduates to have a working knowledge of bookkeeping, which he called essential in any business.

A diploma is necessary, Dr. Decker said, "but it depends on how you use it and how you put into practice what you know."

Presentation of the class was made by Lowell A. Welsh, director of the State Trade School. Diplomas were presented by Dr. W. Ray Hill, member of the State Board of Education.

The approximately 130 graduates were completing courses in auto mechanics, watch repairing, cabinet making, and other trades.

Earth Satellite Due To Arrive Here Soon

Mid-summer of 1957 to December 1958 is the period chosen by the U.S. government for the launching of its earth satellites. This is the period of the International Geophysical Year.

Residents of Lincoln and the surrounding area will have an opportunity to view at close-up a plastic model of the earth satellite, one of the outstanding features of the American Dream exhibition at GOLD'S starting on June 25th through June 27th in the fourth floor auditorium, and admission is free.

In bringing to the American people in its fifty city tour across the nation, The American Dream, a dramatic historical pageant encompassing the activities of the American people from pioneering days to the present, has included the satellite among its array of Americana as being contemporary U.S. history.

The model is as accurate in detail as it had been possible to make them based on information supplied by U.S. Geophysical research teams. It is fitted with standard electronic parts to simulate the instruments used to examine space. The actual satellites will be used for the study of solar rays affecting climate and weather and for the investigation of those electrical currents flowing from beyond the ionosphere that may affect long range communications.

It is estimated that the actual satellites will be between 14 and 20 inches in diameter and spherical in shape, the model is a compromise 18. The form was chosen to prevent the satellite from tumbling in flight. Tumbling might interfere with the radio-telemetering of space information to the ground. A sphere also presents the same shape of surface in the direction of forward movement, an important factor in measuring "drag," a term applied to the resistance of whatever air exists at high altitude.

The U.S. National Committee for the International Geophysical Year will seek to establish ten satellites in orbits 200 to 300 miles from the earth. Each is expected to travel 18,000 miles an hour and circle the earth once each 90 minutes.

This model of the earth satellite is just one of the many fabulous items in The "American Dream" pageant in GOLD'S fourth floor auditorium June 25, 26 and 27. Admission is free... plan to see it!
